Community Fund Sets Goal, Names Staff Members

The goal for the Pickaway Community Fund's 1965 campaign has been set at $40,000. This financial objective was established when the Fund's board of trustees met this week to map initial plans for the annual drive. In other action, the officials added the Pickaway County Mental Health Assn. to the agencies participating in the community organization.

Dan Crabtree, chairman of the 1965 campaign, announced members of his staff for the coming drive. They are: Fritz Jacobs, vice chairman; Robert Lund, Robert Johnson, Robert McKelvey and Ralph Starkey, associate chairmen.

DIVISION chairmen are: Mrs. Boyd Stout, Circleville City North; Miss Phyllis Ullman, Circleville City South; G. Ninde Lawson and Robert Keatley, industrial; Charles Gerhardt and Dr. Robert Liggett, business; Gerald Leist, county; Robert Wavering, special groups; Joseph Bell, advanced gifts.

Additional staff members are Mrs. Carol Albright, secretary; Charles Brackett, training; Robert Gerlach, publicity; Mrs. C. S. McCloud, in charge of materials and headquarters.

This year the campaign will be launched with a solicitation of industrial groups, county areas and drive for advanced gifts the week of Sept. 25.

The following week, beginning Oct. 4, the effort will switch to business and special groups. The campaign will conclude with the residential solicitation on Oct. 10.

Local agencies benefitted by the Community Fund are the Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross, Well-Child Clinic, Youth Canteen and the newly added Pickaway County Mental Health Assn.

Last year's goal of $38,788 was reached under the campaign chairmanship of James A. Wilson. He has been elevated to the Community Fund presidency for 1965 and Crabtree will assume the chairman job.

Under the bill, literacy tests would be suspended in wide areas of the South and the federal government could appoint examiners to register voters.

The Senate Wednesday adopted two amendments that strengthen the bill.

One, offered by Mansfield and Dirksen and approved by a 69-20 vote, wrote into it a declaration that the right to vote is denied or abridged in certain states by requiring poll-tax payments. It was designed to help the attorney general in court tests he is directed to make of the constitutionality of the levies for state and local elections.

The other amendment, offered by Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, authorizes the attorney general to assign poll watchers in states or counties where federal examiners have been appointed to register voters. It was adopted by a 56-25 vote.

Medic Questions Doctors' Efforts To Prolong Life

CLEVELAND (AP) — In attempting to prolong life, physicians are being forced to make more and more difficult decisions, "some of which quite literally become tantamount to playing God," a Virginia doctor told University Hospitals Centennial Symposium today.

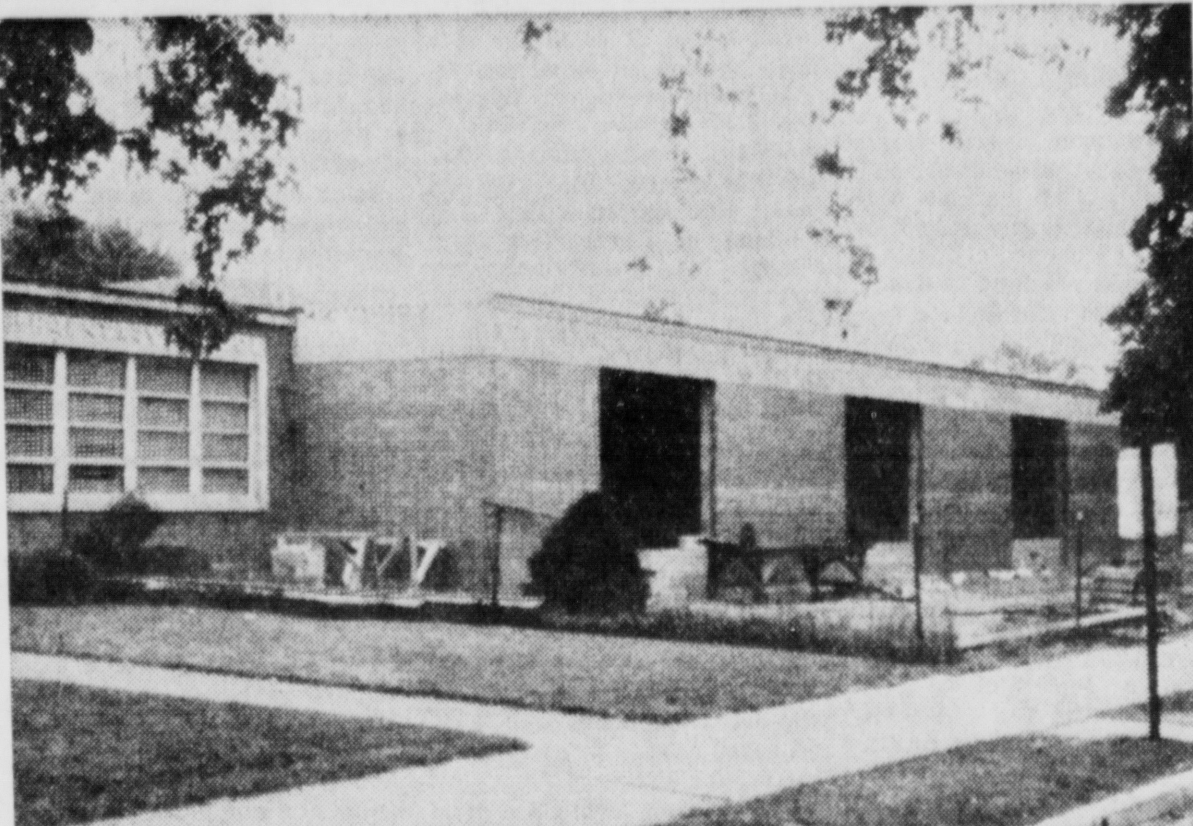

Dr. Thomas H. Hunter of the University of Virginia School of Medicine, in a speech prepared for the opening session of the two-day symposium, asked this question:

"How far are we to go, and how are we to decide who is to have the benefit of life-saving measures which for various reasons cannot be made available to all?"

"It is becoming harder and harder to allow people who are at the end of the line for one reason or another to die with some dignity and peace."

ON SCHEDULE — The building program for the Circleville School District is reportedly "on schedule." Pictured here is the addition on the east side of the Mound St. Elementary School slated to be completed by the fall term. The new facility will house students from the Franklin St. building which will be torn down after school closes. Excavation work is under way at the site of the new high school behind Nicholas Drive Elementary. Work also will begin as soon as school closes for demolition of the old High St. and Walnut St. buildings.

U.S. Drops Warning Leaflets Near Hanoi

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force planes flew within 55 miles of Hanoi today and dropped half a million leaflets warning the Communists to halt aggression in South Viet Nam or "bear more disastrous consequences," a U.S. military spokesman said.

On the ground, the Viet Cong fired a short mortar barrage into a U.S. Marine patrol 15 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing one Marine and wounding two others. The Marines reported their return fire killed at least two guerrillas.

U.S. authorities said 63 Viet Cong were killed and six captured in three search-and-destroy operations in Binh Dinh Province 250 miles northeast of Saigon. Five government men were killed and 13 wounded.

"If the Vietnamese Communists are stubborn in their aggression and sabotage in South Viet Nam, they will bear more disastrous consequences," the leaflets said.

"Our brothers in the army of North Viet Nam, don't let the Chinese and Vietnamese Communists use your bones and blood to wage a fratricidal war in South Viet Nam."

The spokesman said 25 F105 Thunderchiefs dropped the leaflets over Ninh Binh and then attacked a radar station on Hon Mat Island 135 miles southeast of Hanoi. The flight over Ninh Binh was the third time U.S. aircraft had penetrated above the 20th Parallel, the spokesman said.

The dual mission capped a day of almost continuous air strikes against the Communist North on the third day of renewed raids.

Earlier strikes were reported against the Phu Qui petroleum complex, 125 miles south of Hanoi, and against a convoy of 15 trucks. Phu Qui was also attacked when the raids were resumed Tuesday.

The spokesman said four U.S. Navy Skyhawks from the carrier Coral Sea destroyed four railroad cars and probably damaged bridges on a raid between Thanh Hoa and Vinh, 128 miles south of Hanoi.

The aircraft also attacked a ferry and a bridge 100 miles south of Hanoi but the extent of damage was not immediately determined.

Only light antiaircraft fire was reported during the day raids. The spokesman said all planes returned safely.

A military spokesman said four planes, attacking before dawn with the aid of flares, damaged five trucks in the convoy moving west along a road about 90 miles south of Hanoi. All four planes returned safely to the carrier Coral Sea without encountering any antiaircraft fire or hostile aircraft, the spokesman said.

Wednesday night three pairs of aircraft were sent on a mission to drop leaflets over the area.

Helldorado Queen Loses Throne in Tragic Error

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — For four days Lyn Anderson reigned as queen of this gambling city's annual Helldorado celebration. Then she learned it was all a mistake.

The 19-year-old brunette ruled over a rodeo last Thursday night.

In the Helldorado parade Saturday she proudly sat astride princess, her dad's Mare. Lyn wore a new Western outfit her father had promised her if she won.

"It's a great honor," she said, as have countless other queens before her.

But Wednesday the great honor proved to be a "tragic mistake."

Lyn was not the one the judges selected as queen, said Keith Ashworth, the celebration chairman.

The real queen was supposed to be Stephanie Anne Sertic, an 18-year-old Western High School student.

Ashworth said the switch happened this way:

The judges graded the eight contestants, referring only to their numbers.

The winner's number (No. 1) was handed to the rodeo announcer last Thursday night.

The announcer, who had only a list of names in alphabetical order, said the winner was Lyn Anderson, the first name on his roster.

Miss Sertic wore the numeral one during the competition.

Lyn stayed home Wednesday, deciding not to attend a luncheon where Ashworth explained the mixup to the other candidates.

"I think this whole thing is unfair to Lyn," Miss Sertic said. "But I'll abide by whatever the Helldorado officials say."

The final ruling of the committee: Miss Sertic is queen. Miss Anderson is co-queen because of the error.

But both will receive a trophy, a silver belt buckle and a pair of cowgirl boots.

Once Around Roundtown

COMMON Pleas Judge William Ammer was feted with a birthday party yesterday afternoon hosted by employees of the Clerk of Courts office.

Judge Ammer, attending a convention today in Cincinnati asserted Wednesday that he will be the same age as Jack Benny come Friday.

He also noted that it was eight years ago this week that he was assigned as judge of the county court.

New Underground Communications Center Planned

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has started construction of a bomb-resistant, underground communications center at nearby Weymouth.

The two-floor center will be part of an $82-million coast-to-coast cable system. The first portion of the system, scheduled for service next year, will extend from Chesterland, Mass., to Plano, Ill., near Chicago.

By 1968 the route will reach Omaha, Neb., and eventually the West Coast. A 20-tube coaxial cable capable of carrying 16,000 simultaneous long-distance telephone conversations will be buried along the 900-mile Illinois-to-Massachusetts section.

Dominica Junta Claims Control

House Panel OKs Auto Tax Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has taken a long step beyond President Johnson's request and voted to repeal entirely the excise tax on passenger automobiles over the next four years.

The four major auto companies promptly announced they would pass any tax cuts on to buyers, which would mean an eventual price reduction on an average car of about $230. The present excise tax on cars is 10 per cent, and Johnson asked that it be cut to 5 per cent.

Tuesday's Ways and Means Committee action — if upheld by Congress — would bring the eventual revenue reduction to nearly $5 billion, $900 million more than Johnson had recommended in a special message to Congress Monday. The cut in the first year would be about the $1.75 billion urged by the President.

Swift congressional approval of excise tax cuts seems assured.

The House probably will vote on the measure the week of May 31, if leaders carry out present plans.

In the Senate, Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said the Finance Committee hopes to take up the bill right after the House acts and will hear only one witness — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler. Sen. Byrd said all potential witnesses favor the cuts.

The unusual speed is designed in large part to head off any slump in buying the many goods on which taxes would be eliminated July 1.

Following Johnson's recommendation, the House committee provided procedures by which people who bought autos or air conditioners before July 1 could get refunds.

In addition to these two items, a long list of goods, taxed for

120 Killed In Crash of Pakistan Jet

CAIRO (AP) — A Pakistani jetliner inaugurating Karachi-to-London service crashed in desolate desert sands near Cairo Airport today, killed 120 of the 126 persons aboard.

It was the fifth worst air crash in aviation history.

Airline officials said one or more Americans perished in the flaming crash. Identification was not immediately available.

The airline said that of the 115 passengers, 93 were listed as Pakistanis, 12 Chinese and 10 other foreigners, whose nationalities were listed as U.S., Canadian, Lebanese and Egyptian.

The American-built jetliner's 11 crewmen died in the crash.

All six survivors were Pakistanis. Two were employees of the Pakistan International Airline and another was a Pakistani tourist official. Three of the men were reported in critical condition.

The flight was scheduled to pick up 52 additional passengers, all guests of the airline, at Cairo for the remainder of the flight to Geneva and London.

Capt. Akhtar Aly Khan, pilot of the four engine jet, reported engine trouble and a fire in the landing gear minutes before the crash.

Senator Asks Exposure Of 'Guilty Officer'

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Let no guilty officer escape exposure," said Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, in demanding a full investigation of the recent bomb explosions at Bien Hoa Air Base in South Viet Nam.

Young said Wednesday that one of the matters the Air Force should look into is whether there was any negligence on the part of the base commander in permitting the loading of planes with bombs when they were parked closely together.

Rebels Told To Surrender

General Offers No Compromise

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican junta claimed "absolute control" of the country Wednesday night and called for unconditional surrender of the rebels.

"We have absolute control of the Dominican Republic," the junta president, Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, told a rally of about 1,000 cheering middle- and upper-class followers inside the U.S.-occupied international zone of Santo Domingo.

"We don't want a truce. Out with communism," the crowd shouted.

Imbert spoke from a balcony at his headquarters in the Congressional Palace shortly after junta troops overran the rebel radio station and rebel resistance in northern Santo Domingo collapsed.

Imbert told an interviewer he would not consider any compromise with the rebel force of Col. Francisco Caamaño Deno. He said his five-man junta would only discuss unconditional surrender of the insurgents, whose main force is holed up in downtown Santo Domingo inside the U.S.-controlled areas.

Caamaño has also refused to meet with Imbert, contending that any compromise with the junta would violate rebel demands for a return to the 1963 constitution.

However, a spokesman for the U.N. peace mission said both the junta and the rebels have agreed in principle to a 12-hour cease-fire Friday to let the Red Cross remove dead and wounded from the fighting zone.

The spokesman added that detailed agreements with each side still must be worked out.

Shooting tapered off Wednesday night, but there apparently were rebel holdouts in the northern area. Imbert told a newsman the battle would be over by the weekend.

Asked if his forces would try to storm the rebel stronghold downtown, the junta chief said, "That's next week's problem."

A junta spokesman said 800 rebel prisoners had been taken in the battle in the northern suburbs.

Hospitals reported 30 dead in the fighting, but some estimates placed the total at more than 100 including civilians.

Newsman driving through the area said tanks had demolished some homes where rebels were believed barricaded. Many homes were scarred by machine-gun and cannon fire they said.

Some families fleeing the battle area claimed U.S. troops

He Can't Drive, But He Can Fly

TROY, Ohio (AP) — Failure to pass his driver's license examination didn't keep 16-year-old Perry Bashore grounded.

During his driving test this week, he hit a curb while parking and was denied license.

However, the sophomore at Newton High School in nearby Pleasantville had an ace in the hole. He soloed his father's airplane last week.

Frog-Raising Curbs Are Sought by Solons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Add frog raisers to the list of unusual regulating bills being considered by the 106th Ohio General Assembly.

Sens. Max Dennis, R-Wilmington, and Oakley C. Collins, R-Lawrence, introduced Wednesday what they called a Wildlife Division measure to license frog raisers.

It would require persons raising frogs, for sale or their own use, to obtain a $5 license annually and to operate under rules and regulations of the Wildlife Division.

Governors Study Hospital Budget

A comprehensive look at the 1965 budget was a key item at last night's meeting of Berger Hospital's Board of Governors-Commissioners.

Considerable thought was directed toward steps that might improve the hospital's financial picture. Several recommendations were presented for study.

One of the foremost problems relative to Berger's financial outlook has been the lack of patient occupancy and the need for greater use of the hospital's facilities. This, the governors feel, must be overcome if the hospital is to meet its day-to-day obligations and still function as the county's only medical institution.

The governing body has repeatedly expressed the view that increased patient occupancy will help solve financial problems to a great extent. Steps to economize have already been taken, although board members point out that extensive curtailment of services and personnel for economy's sake tends to decrease the hospital's capabilities and prime objective of complete service to the community.

LAST NIGHT'S review produced the suggestion that outside financial subsidization might be a proper solution. Berger derives no operational assistance other than from local funds.

A motion calling for continued discussions with the Pickaway County Medical Society concerning the financial picture was approved. The same move authorized the formation of a committee to further explore methods of attaining financial relief. Named to the panel were Emmitt Crist, Dr. Robert Phillips, R. C. Palm and Howard Koch.

In other business, the board extended a welcome to Mrs. Doris Wiggins, new president of the General Guild.

The general statistical report showed that the percentage of occupancy for April, on an adult basis, was 67.16 of capacity. The average daily adult census was 35.9.

Births for the month were listed at 33, making a total of 147 for the year.

Additional data showed: 342 emergency room visits for a yearly total 1,115; 61 inpatient operations for a total of 261; 7 outpatient operations for a total of U.S. Navy Skyhawks made separate strikes against a bridge 77 miles south of Hanoi and boxcars and other targets about 120 miles below the capital. They followed a mass strike by 40 U.S. Navy planes Wednesday morning.

The raids against the North were resumed Tuesday after a six-day suspension failed to bring any response from Hanoi to U.S. peace overtures.

The North Vietnamese Communists charged today that the United States did not actually suspend raids against North Viet Nam.

"In reality over the past week there has been no 'suspension' of U.S. bombing and strafing of North Viet Nam," said Hanoi's Nhan Dan daily.

It charged that the United States stepped up the raids and made 186 sorties on May 14.

The Chinese Communist party's Peking People's Daily joined in with the claim that U.S. planes made strikes against North Viet Nam on May 12, 13 and 17.

During the suspension, U.S. planes reportedly continued to make reconnaissance flights over North Viet Nam, assessing the damage done in previous attacks.

Woody Boils In Defending His Conduct

A participant at a meeting of coaches and athletic directors Wednesday said that the near-fight came after Hayes and Evashevski exchanged criticism of each other's coaching tactics.

Evashevski, who quit as Iowa coach to become athletic director after the 1960 season, said Thursday "we had a difference of opinion. That's all the comment I have."

Hayes had returned to Columbus, Ohio, and was not immediately available for comment.

The Associated Press was told that the argument started when Evashevski told Hayes his sideline conduct during football games was deplorable, a detriment to the Big Ten and a disgrace to the coaching profession.

Hayes replied, it was reported, that Evashevski was in no position to criticize others because of his tactics as a recruiter and coach.

Hayes reportedly then whipped off his coat and charged for Evashevski. Fritz Crisler, athletic director at Michigan, and Doug Mills, athletic director at Illinois, stepped between Hayes and Evashevski and calmed them down, it was reported.

Hayes returned to his chair, and remained for the rest of the meeting.

Ohio Seeks State Control Over 4-H

WASHINGTON (AP)—A move has been started in Ohio to shift sponsorship of rural youth activities such as the 4-H Club from the U.S. Department of Agriculture to state educational authorities.

Since 4-H Clubs were created a half a century ago, several hundred million farm boys and girls have participated in the various farm and home development and leadership projects sponsored by the clubs.

The department's extension service works through a cooperative arrangement with state and local educational units. Because of a sharp decline in the number of farmers, the future of the extension service has been a subject of some question.

In Ohio, the service operates under the Board of Regents, that state's new coordinating body for higher education.

A recent report of the board has this to say:

"It seems likely that these activities might more appropriately be organized and operated through a rural youth program of the state board of education and local school authorities."

India Sees Close Tie with Russia

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India has opened what it hopes will be a new era of friendly and profitable cooperation with the Soviet Union. It could bring a steep decline in American influence and prestige in this nation of 480 million.

Already, Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has toed the Soviet line by criticizing U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam without his recent balancing condemnation of all foreign interference in Viet Nam.

Shastri returned today from an eight-day visit to the Soviet Union proclaiming that India has Moscow's "sympathy and support" in many matters. This contrasted with widespread belief in New Delhi that India isn't getting this from the United States.

The U.S. image in India has been in trouble since President Johnson said last month he was going to be busy with the Viet Nam crisis and domestic affairs and asked Shastri to postpone a visit to Washington in June.

Many in New Delhi took this as humiliating, heavy-handed rebuke for Shastri's attitude toward the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

Before American diplomats here could put things right, another dispute developed. India charged Pakistan was using

Foster Parents Ordered To Give Up Adopted Girl

CLEVELAND (AP)—A childless couple who adopted a baby girl almost two years ago must return the child to her natural mother, the 8th District Ohio Court of Appeals ruled today.

The decision reversed a ruling of a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court judge who, in April 1964, allowed the child to remain with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Sherwin of University Heights, a Cleveland suburb.

A three-judge appeals court held that the child must be returned to her natural mother, Mrs. Carmeline McTaggart, 23, now operator of a beauty shop in Miami Beach, Fla.

Kyman J. Blum, attorney representing Mrs. McTaggart, said he expected her to come to Cleveland for the child.

"She'll be delighted," said Blum. "She was just here Tuesday and said she 'definitely want the child.'"

The Sherwins received the baby when she was only a few days old. The girl, Heidi, will be two years old Friday. Sherwin is a catering manager for a baking company.

The appeals court said the common pleas court should have granted the habeas corpus writ sought by the natural mother, who wanted her child back from the couple who adopted her. She had challenged the legality of the baby adoption proceedings in Franklin County (Columbus) Court.

Because the Sherwins names are not in the journal entry approving placement, the appeals court ruled, they are "strangers to the record" and can show no right or claim to the child.

The court said the entry shows the hospital released the infant to a Columbus attorney who represented the Sherwins.

Mrs. McTaggart had testified in the lower court that Franklin County Court officials had threatened that her estranged husband would take her son, then 3, from her unless she agreed to the adoption of the little girl.

Court testimony showed that Mrs. McTaggart had been separated from her husband for a year when the baby girl was born. A divorce case is pending.

A spokesman for the Sherwins said the decision would be appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Rebels Told

were aiding junta soldiers in the fight against the rebels. Some said they had seen American troops arrive with junta forces in three truckloads of reinforcements Tuesday.

A U.S. military spokesman said the only American troops with the junta were radio units assigned to help Dominican forces keep their gunfire away from the American Lines.

In New York, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant called on the United States to "use its good offices" to get the rival Dominican factions to heed the ceasefire appeal issued by the Security Council last Friday.

Thant said his special Dominican envoy, Jose Antonio Mayobre of Venezuela, told U.S. officials in Santo Domingo there was an "unavoidable implication" of United States involvement because of the inaction of United States forces during the (junta) offensive.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told the Security Council the United States had sent high-level diplomatic representatives to Santo Domingo to "help to stop the fighting and Stevenson said the United States "is not taking sides" and its forces "do not have a mandate to enforce the cease-fire."

Five Treated At Hospital

Berger Hospital staff members administered emergency care to five persons yesterday. All were treated and released.

Teresa Hartman, 3½, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hartman, 148 Griner Ave., fell at Ted Lewis Park and suffered contusions to her forehead.

William Rittinger, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rittinger, Route 1, shut a door on a finger of his left hand at home.

Donna Hathcox, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hathcox, Route 3, fell on pavement at school and injured her right knee.

Peggy Singer, 22, of 1265 N. Court St., lacerated her right leg at the General Electric Lamp plant.

Pamela Thompson, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Thompson, 116 Reber Ave., scratched her left arm on a rusty fence at school.

At Construction Site

A house, under construction on Edwards Road was entered last night by vandals, it was reported by Dewey Speakman.

Circleville Police said intruders entered the house through a basement window. They littered the floors with refuse, locked the storm doors on the inside and turned on all the lights before leaving.

The house is being built by George Speakman.

Community Fund Sets Goal, Names Staff Members

The goal for the Pickaway Community Fund's 1965 campaign has been set at $40,000.

This financial objective was established when the Fund's board of trustees met this week to map initial plans for the annual drive. In other action, the officials added the Pickaway County Mental Health Assn. to the agencies participating in the community organization.

Dan Crabtree, chairman of the 1965 campaign, announced members of his staff for the coming drive. They are:

Fritz Jacobs, vice chairman; Robert Lund, Robert Johnson, Robert McKelvey and Ralph Starkey, associate chairmen.

DIVISION chairmen are: Mrs. Boyd Stout, Circleville City North; Miss Phyllis Ullman, Circleville City South; G. Ninde Lawson and Robert Keatley, industrial; Charles Gerhardt and Dr. Robert Liggett, business; Gerald Leist, county; Robert Wavering, special groups; Joseph Bell, advanced gifts.

Additional staff members are Mrs. Carol Albright, secretary; Charles Brackett, training; Robert Gerlach, publicity; Mrs. C. S. McClellan, in charge of materials and headquarters.

This year the campaign will be launched with a solicitation of industrial groups, county areas and drive for advanced gifts the week of Sept. 25.

The following week, beginning Oct. 4, the effort will switch to business and special groups. The campaign will conclude with the residential solicitation on Oct. 10.

Local agencies benefitted by the Community Fund are the Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Pickaway County Chapter of the American Red Cross, Well-Child Clinic, Youth Canteen and the newly added Pickaway County Mental Health Assn.

Last year's goal of $38,788 was reached under the campaign chairmanship of James A. Wilson. He has been elevated to the Community Fund presidency for 1965 and Crabtree will assume the chairman job.

Bloodmobile Due Friday

Arrangements are being completed by Red Cross officials for tomorrow's visit of the Bloodmobile.

The mobile unit will set up operations at the First Methodist Church. Donors will be received from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Robert Wavering, Blood Program chairman, said contacts have been made with local civic and social organization leaders in an effort to attain additional donors.

The organizational heads in turn have contacted individual members to urge their participation during the Friday collection period. Blood program personnel hope to reach the 130-pint quota tomorrow.

The Friday visit will be the last for the Bloodmobile until July 8.

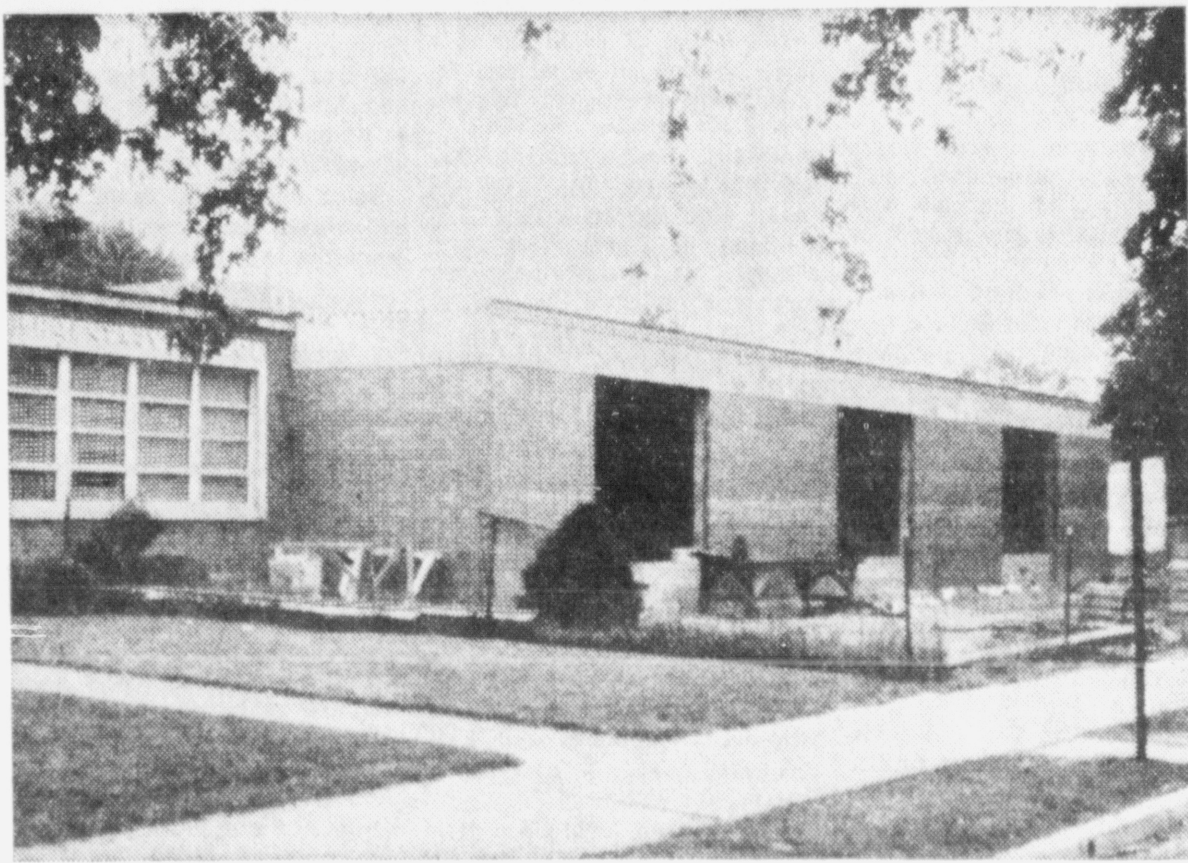

Missing Ohio GI Is Found Injured

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Air Force staff sergeant whose parents lived in Hamilton, Ohio, has been officially added to the list of those identified as critically injured in the chain of explosions at the Bien Hoa Air Base in South Viet Nam last weekend.

He is S. Sgt. Edwin P. Seward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel L. Seward of Hamilton, transferred Capt. Andrew M. Kea Jr., whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kea Sr., live in Akron, Ohio, from the list of missing to those known dead.

Dad Refuses To Whip His Errant Son, 18

TAYLORSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Judge Sam Poole Wednesday gave George Stout the choice of whipping his son, Steve, 18, on the courthouse steps or letting him go to jail. Stout, a mill worker and a farmer, decided against the public whipping. Steve is now serving two 12-month terms for breaking and entering.

ON SCHEDULE — The building program for the Circleville School District is reportedly "on schedule." Pictured here is the addition on the east side of the Mound St. Elementary School slated to be completed by the fall term. The new facility will house students from the Franklin St. building which will be torn down after school closes. Excavation work is under way at the site of the new high school behind Nicholas Drive Elementary. Work also will begin as soon as school closes for demolition of the old High St. and Walnut St. buildings.

U.S. Drops Warning Leaflets Near Hanoi

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force planes flew within 55 miles of Hanoi today and dropped half a million leaflets warning the Communists to halt aggression in South Viet Nam or "bear more disastrous consequences," a U.S. military spokesman said.

On the ground, the Viet Cong fired a short mortar barrage into a U.S. Marine patrol 15 miles southwest of Da Nang, killing one Marine and wounding two others. The Marines reported their return fire killed at least two guerrillas.

U.S. authorities said 63 Viet Cong were killed and six captured in three search-and-destroy operations in Bing Dinh Province 250 miles northeast of Saigon. Five government men were killed and 13 wounded.

"If the Vietnamese Communists are stubborn in their aggression and sabotage in South Viet Nam, they will bear more disastrous consequences," the leaflets said.

"Our brothers in the army of North Viet Nam, don't let the Chinese and Vietnamese Communists use your bones and blood to wage a fratricidal war in South Viet Nam."

The spokesman said 25 F105 Thunderchiefs dropped the leaflets over Ninh Binh and then attacked a radar station on Hon Mat Island 135 miles southeast of Hanoi. The flight over Ninh Binh was the third time U.S. aircraft had penetrated above the 20th Parallel, the spokesman said.

The dual mission capped a day of almost continuous air strikes against the Communist North on the third day of renewed raids.

Earlier strikes were reported against the Phu Qui petroleum complex, 125 miles south of Hanoi, and against a convoy of 15 trucks. Phu Qui was also attacked when the raids were resumed Tuesday.

The spokesman said four U.S. Navy Skyhawks from the carrier Coral Sea destroyed four railroad cars and probably damaged bridges on a rail between Thanh Hoa and Vinh, 128 miles south of Hanoi.

The aircraft also attacked a ferry and a bridge 100 miles south of Hanoi but the extent of damage was not immediately determined.

Only light anti-aircraft fire was reported during the day raids. The spokesman said all planes returned safely.

A military spokesman said four planes, attacking before dawn with the aid of flares, damaged five trucks in the convoy moving west along a road about 90 miles south of Hanoi. All four planes returned safely to the carrier Coral Sea without encountering any anti-aircraft fire or hostile aircraft, the spokesman said.

Helldorado Queen Loses Throne in Tragic Error

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — For four days Lyn Anderson reigned as queen of this gambling city's annual Helldorado celebration. Then she learned it was all a mistake.

The 19-year-old brunette ruled over a rodeo last Thursday night.

In the Helldorado parade Saturday she proudly sat astride princess, her dad's mare. Lyn wore a new Western outfit her father had promised her if she won.

"It's a great honor," she said, as have countless other queens before her.

But Wednesday the great honor proved to be a "tragic mistake."

Lyn was not the one the judges selected as queen, said Keith Ashworth, the celebration chairman.

The real queen was supposed to be Stephanie Anne Sertic, an 18-year-old Western High School student.

Ashworth said the switch happened this way:

The judges graded the eight contestants, referring only to their numbers.

The winner's number (No. 1) was handed to the rodeo announcer last Thursday night. The announcer, who had only a list of names in alphabetical order, said the winner was Lyn Anderson, the first name on his roster.

Miss Sertic wore the numeral one during the competition.

Lyn stayed home Wednesday, deciding not to attend a luncheon where Ashworth explained the mixup to the other candidates.

New Underground Communications Center Planned

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — The American Telephone & Telegraph Co. has started construction of a bomb-resistant, underground communications center at nearby Weymouth.

The two-floor center will be part of an $82-million coast-to-coast cable system. The first portion of the system, scheduled for service next year, will extend from Chesterland, Mass., to Plano, Ill., near Chicago.

By 1968 the route will reach Omaha, Neb., and eventually the West Coast. A 20-tube coaxial cable capable of carrying 16,000 simultaneous long distance telephone conversations will be buried along the 900-mile Illinois-to-Massachusetts section.

MOSCOW (AP) — American industrialist Cyrus Eaton, a friend of Nikita Khrushchev, met in the Kremlin today with Khrushchev's successor as Soviet premier, Alexei N. Kosygin.

Dominica Junta Claims Control

House Panel OKs Auto Tax Slash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee has taken a long step beyond President Johnson's request and voted to repeal entirely the excise tax on passenger automobiles over the next four years.

The four major auto companies promptly announced they would pass any tax cuts on to buyers, which would mean an eventual price reduction on an average car of about $230. The present excise tax on cars is 10 per cent, and Johnson asked that it be cut to 5 per cent.

Tuesday's Ways and Means Committee action — if upheld by Congress — would bring the eventual revenue reduction to nearly $5 billion, $900 million more than Johnson had recommended in a special message to Congress Monday. The cut in the first year would be about the $1.75 billion urged by the President.

Swift congressional approval of excise tax cuts seems assured.

The House probably will vote on the measure the week of May 31, if leaders carry out present plans.

In the Senate, Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said the Finance Committee hopes to take up the bill right after the House acts and will hear only one witness — Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler. Sen. Byrd said all potential witnesses favor the cuts.

The unusual speed is designed in large part to head off any slump in buying the many goods on which taxes would be eliminated July 1.

Following Johnson's recommendation, the House committee provided procedures by which people who bought autos or air conditioners before July 1 could get refunds.

In addition to these two items, a long list of goods, taxed for the most part at 10 per cent, would become tax free July 1 if the legislation is enacted by then.

They include jewelry, furs, toilet preparations, luggage and handbags.

Taxes at the manufacturer's level would be lifted from television, radio and phonographic sets, cameras, musical instruments, sporting goods except for fishing equipment, refrigerators, freezers, air conditioners, power lawnmowers and electric, gas and oil appliances.

Human Body Freeze Plan Is Called Off

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Plans for technicians of Juno, Inc., to use a time capsule for scientific freezing of a woman after death collapsed here today.

The scientists at Juno had announced that a volunteer for the unprecedented frozen burial was a middle-aged Springfield woman near death of a heart ailment in a local hospital.

This morning her husband, who asked that the woman's identity not be disclosed, called off the plan. He said he did so after consulting with his minister. He informed the hospital authorities of his decision.

Earlier today, interim plans hit a snag when hospital officials balked at certain procedures preliminary to moving the body out of the hospital.

The woman's physician reportedly declined to participate in the procedures and the hospital refused to permit anyone but members of its medical staff to participate.

The procedures reportedly must be carried out within seconds after death to prevent blood coagulation.

The capsule, a cylindrical container, was developed recently by Juno to freeze the human body until, theoretically, medical science learns how to bring it back to life.

However, at the present time there is no known method of thawing the body without causing damage, according to Leonard Gold, president of the Springfield company.

New Setup For Both Houses Asked

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A plan to reapportion the Ohio Senate as well as the House was offered today by five House Republicans.

The completely different proposal brought to an even dozen the number of substitutes proposed for the one defeated by voters in the May 4 primary.

Rep. Carlton Davidson, R-Lawrence, and he other sponsors proposed a 160-member House, based on one representative for each population ratio of 60,664, and a 40-member Senate with each member of the upper chamber for each population unit of 267,662.

Previously offered plans called for new House districts only and did not include the Senate, which some lawmakers contended already complied with the U. S. Supreme Court ruling requiring state legislative districts virtually equal in population.

The new plan also differed from others in that it calls for four-year terms for House members, the same Senators now have, and for election of half the membership of each House every two years.

Joining Davidson in offering the proposal were Reps. Gerald Martin, R-Defiance; Lloyd G. Kerns, R-Union; Harry L. Armstrong, R-Logan, and Robert L. Wilhelm, R-Van Wert.

Rebels Told To Surrender

General Offers No Compromise

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican junta claimed "absolute control" of the country Wednesday night and called for unconditional surrender of the rebels.

"We have absolute control of the Dominican Republic," the junta president, Brig. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, told a rally of about 1,000 cheering middle- and upper-class followers inside the U.S.-occupied international zone of Santo Domingo.

"We don't want a truce. Out with communism," the crowd shouted.

Imbert spoke from a balcony at his headquarters in the Congressional Palace shortly after junta troops overran the rebel radio station and rebel resistance in northern Santo Domingo collapsed.

Imbert told an interviewer he would not consider any compromise with the rebel force of Col. Francisco Caamano Deno. He said his five-man junta would only discuss unconditional surrender of the insurgents, whose main force is holed up in downtown Santo Domingo inside the U.S.-controlled areas.

Caamano has also refused to meet with Imbert, contending that any compromise with the junta would violate rebel demands for a return to the 1963 constitution.

However, a spokesman for the U.N. peace mission said both the junta and the rebels have agreed in principle to a 12-hour cease-fire Friday to let the Red Cross remove dead and wounded from the fighting zone. The spokesman added that detailed agreements with each side still must be worked out.

Shooting tapered off Wednesday night, but there apparently were rebel holdouts in the northern area. Imbert told a newsman the battle would be over by the weekend.

Asked if his forces would try to storm the rebel stronghold downtown, the junta chief said, "That's next week's problem."

A junta spokesman said 800 rebel prisoners had been taken in the battle in the northern suburbs.

Hospitals reported 30 dead in the fighting, but some estimates placed the total at more than 100 including civilians.

Newsman driving through the area said tanks had demolished some homes where rebels were believed barricaded. Many homes were scarred by machine-gun and cannon fire they said.

Some families fleeing the battle area claimed U.S. troops

He Can't Drive, But He Can Fly

TROY, Ohio (AP)—Failure to pass his driver's license examination didn't keep 16-year-old Perry Bashore grounded.

During his driving test this week, he hit a curb while parking and was denied license.

However, the sophomore at Newton High School in nearby Pleasantville had an ace in the hole. He soloed his father's airplane last week.

Frog-Raising Curbs Are Sought by Solons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Add frog raisers to the list of unusual regulating bills being considered by the 106th Ohio General Assembly.

Sens. Max Dennis, R-Wilmington, and Oakley C. Collins, R-Lawrence, introduced Wednesday what they called a Wildlife Division measure to license frog raisers.

It would require persons raising frogs, for sale or their own use, to obtain a $5 license annually and to operate under rules and regulations of the Wildlife Division.

Vote Right Bill Cloture Looms

End to Senate Debate Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has announced plans to cut through talk on the voting-rights bill and put it to a vote.

The showdown on his drive for cloture — a strict limit on debate — will come next Tuesday, in the fifth week of Senate consideration of the administration-backed measure.

Joined by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, his partner in planning strategy on the bill, Mansfield will file a debate-limitation petition Friday. In the interim, he will be trying to round up the votes required for cloture — two-thirds of the senators voting on Tuesday.

If Mansfield succeeds, senators will be limited to an hour's speaking time each on the bill and all its amendments.

The Montanan announced his plans Wednesday after he tried — and failed — to get the Senate to agree to limit debate on each remaining amendment to one hour and to vote on the measure Tuesday afternoon.

Mansfield was blocked by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., acting for Southern senators who contend the bill would strip states of their constitutional right to fix qualifications for voters.

Under the bill, literacy tests would be suspended in wide areas of the South and the federal government could appoint examiners to register voters.

The Senate Wednesday adopted two amendments that strengthen the bill.

One, offered by Mansfield and Dirksen and approved by a 69-20 vote, wrote into it a declaration that the right to vote is denied or abridged in certain states by requiring poll-tax payers. It was designed to help the attorney general in court tests he is directed to make of the constitutionality of the levies for state and local elections.

The other amendment, offered by Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, authorizes the attorney general to assign poll watchers in states or counties where federal examiners have been appointed to register voters. It was adopted by a 56-25 vote.

Medic Questions Doctors' Efforts To Prolong Life

CLEVELAND (AP) — In attempting to prolong life, physicians are being forced to make more and more difficult decisions, "some of which quite literally become tantamount to playing God," a Virginia doctor told University Hospitals Centennial Symposium today.

Dr. Thomas H. Hunter of the University of Virginia School of Medicine, in a speech prepared for the opening session of the two-day symposium, asked this question:

"How far are we to go, and how are we to decide who is to have the benefit of life-saving measures which for various reasons cannot be made available to all?"

"It is becoming harder and harder to allow people who are at the end of the line for one reason or another to die with some dignity and peace."

Jane Fonda Says Father's Name Proves To Be Help

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With pouty face, long, taffy-hued tresses and hip-hugging pants, she looked like the latest movie star from France as she strolled down the steps to the Beverly Hills Hotel pool.

But when she spoke, the tones were not Left Bank but Eastern U.S. finishing school. She is Jane Fonda, daughter of that most American of film stars, Henry Fonda.

The French influence is no doubt the result of Jane's romance with the French people and, on a more personal basis, with Roger Vadim, the mentor and one-time husband of Brigitte Bardot. He has been visiting Jane here.

The second-generation actress, on a day off from the Marlon Brando film "The Chase," took a poolside table and talked about such things as France and being a second-generation actress.

If anything can improve our relations with France, perhaps it can be Jane. Reports from Paris indicate that she has been as well received as any American since Ben Franklin — well, Eddie Constantine, anyway.

"It's very simple: my father," she replied. "I knew he was popular, but I never realized what a hold he had on Europeans. He is loved everywhere, even in Russia, where 'War and Peace' and 'Grapes of Wrath' were very popular. They love him in France and other countries because he made social pictures."

"That admiration was naturally transferred to me. And I couldn't be more grateful."

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chickens, turkeys and eggs may be especially popular with bargain-hungry food shoppers this weekend — not because they're much cheaper these days but because nearly everything else is more expensive.

Beef and pork are still riding at the highest wholesale price levels in months, and in the case of some cuts, in years.

For the second week, a national supermarket chain was unable to find any beef or pork cuts for reduced prices in its New York area outlets. Pork chops went up 10 cents to $1.09 a pound.

The chain put boneless turkey roasts on special at 79 cents a pound, however. The new roast is becoming increasingly popular.

Its California roasts at 59 cents a pound, boneless beef at 69, ribs at 79 and sirloin and porterhouse steaks at 99 were unchanged from the week before.

Eggs dropped slightly, with medium whites, for example, down 2 cents a dozen to 37.

Broiler chicken output is up again and for the year the increase is estimated at 3 to 5 per cent. Good supply may help lower prices at food markets.

Lamb and veal, not ordinarily considered bargain meats, are in normal supply and prices are holding steady. Some housewives might find this a good time to try them in place of pork and beef for a while.

Fresh vegetables and fruits have had their ups and downs this spring, but mostly ups. Wholesalers in the East report that about the only fresh vegetable to be found at a reasonable price is corn on the cob. Lettuce, carrots and potatoes all continue much higher than usual.

The late spring potato crop moves to market in three weeks and may trim prices.

Among the fruits, Hawaiian pineapples are reported to be a bargain in many food stores.

Other foods that have been cheaper in many food stores this spring are prunes, honey and rice.

Dun & Bradstreet's wholesale food price index jumped 3 cents to $6.18 this week, equaling the index of Dec. 7, 1960 and the highest since $6.19 on Feb. 4, 1959.

Hamilton Bank Aide Is Awaiting Sentence

CINCINNATI (AP)—Jack M. Hammel, 34, pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court Wednesday to a charge of embezzling $15,797 from the First National Bank and Trust Co. at Hamilton where he worked as general bookkeeper.

Judge John W. Peck said he would sentence Hammel, of (31 Reister Dr.) Hamilton, Friday. Hammel also pleaded guilty to three counts of making false entries.

Arnold Morrelli, Assistant U. S. Attorney, said the shortage in the bank's accounts occurred between June 1957 and November 1963.

Governors Study Hospital Budget

A comprehensive look at the 1965 budget was a key item at last night's meeting of Berger Hospital's Board of Governors-Commissioners.

Considerable thought was directed toward steps that might improve the hospital's financial picture. Several recommendations were presented for study.

One of the foremost problems relative to Berger's financial outlook has been the lack of patient occupancy and the need for greater use of the hospital's facilities. This, the governors feel, must be overcome if the hospital is to meet its day-to-day obligations and still function as the county's only medical institution.

The governing body has repeatedly expressed the view that increased patient occupancy will help solve financial problems to a great extent. Steps to economize have already been taken, although board members point out that extensive curtailment of services and personnel for economy's sake tends to decrease the hospital's capabilities and prime objective of complete service to the community.

LAST NIGHT'S review produced the suggestion that outside financial subsidization might be a proper solution. Berger derives no operational assistance other than from local funds.

A motion calling for continued discussions with the Pickaway County Medical Society concerning the financial picture was approved. The same move authorized the formation of a committee to further explore methods of attaining financial relief. Named to the panel were Emmitt Crist, Dr. Robert Phillips, R. C. Palm and Howard Koch.

In other business, the board extended a welcome to Mrs. Doris Higgins, new president of the General Guild.

The general statistical report showed that the percentage of occupancy for April, on an adult basis, was 67.16 of capacity. The average daily adult census was 35.9.

Births for the month were listed at 33, making a total of 147 for the year.

Additional data showed: 342 emergency room visits for a yearly total 1,115; 61 impatient operations for a total of 261; 7 outpatient operations for a total of U.S. Navy Skyhawks made separate strikes against a bridge 77 miles south of Hanoi and boxcars and other targets about 120 miles below the capital. They followed a mass strike by 40 U.S. Navy planes Wednesday morning.

The raids against the North were resumed Tuesday after a six-day suspension failed to bring any response from Hanoi to U.S. peace overtures.

The North Vietnamese Communists charged today that the United States did not actually suspend raids against North Viet Nam.

"In reality over the past week there has been no 'suspension' of U.S. bombing and strafing of North Viet Nam," said Hanoi's Nhan Dan daily.

It charged that the United States stepped up the raids and made 186 sorties on May 14.

The Chinese Communist party's Peking People's Daily joined in with the claim that U.S. planes made strikes against North Viet Nam on May 12, 13 and 17.

During the suspension, U.S. planes reportedly continued to make reconnaissance flights over North Viet Nam, assessing the damage done in previous attacks.

Woody Boils In Defending His Conduct

IOWA City, Iowa (AP) — Woody Hayes, Ohio State football coach, whipped off his coat and was ready to fight Iowa Athletic Director Forest Evashevski during a Big Ten meeting here.

A participant at a meeting of coaches and athletic directors Wednesday said that the near-fight came after Hayes and Evashevski exchanged criticism of each other's coaching tactics.

Evashevski, who quit as Iowa coach to become athletic director after the 1960 season, said Thursday "we had a difference of opinion. That's all the comment I have."

Hayes had returned to Columbus, Ohio, and was not immediately available for comment.

The Associated Press was told that the argument started when Evashevski told Hayes his sideline conduct during football games was deplorable, a detriment to the Big Ten and a disgrace to the coaching profession.

Hayes replied, it was reported, that Evashevski was in no position to criticize others because of his tactics as a recruiter and coach.

Hayes reportedly then whipped off his coat and charged for Evashevski. Fritz Crisler, athletic director at Michigan, and Doug Mills, athletic director at Illinois, stepped between Hayes and Evashevski and calmed them down, it was reported.

Hayes returned to his chair, and remained for the rest of the meeting.

Ohio Seeks State Control Over 4-H

WASHINGTON (AP)—A move has been started in Ohio to shift sponsorship of rural youth activities such as the 4-H Club from the U.S. Department of Agriculture to state educational authorities.

Since 4-H Clubs were created a half a century ago, several hundred million farm boys and girls have participated in the various farm and home development and leadership projects sponsored by the clubs.

The department's extension service works through a cooperative arrangement with state and local educational units. Because of a sharp decline in the number of farmers, the future of the extension service has been a subject of some question.

In Ohio, the service operates under the Board of Regents, that state's new coordinating body for higher education.

A recent report of the board has this to say:

"It seems likely that these activities might more appropriately be organized and operated through a rural youth program of the state board of education and local school authorities."

Services will be 1:30 p. m. Saturday at the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, New Holland. Burial will be in Darbyville Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 4 p. m. tomorrow.

India Sees Close Tie with Russia

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India has opened what it hopes will be a new era of friendly and profitable cooperation with the Soviet Union. It could bring a steep decline in American influence and prestige in this nation of 480 million.

Already, Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri has toed the Soviet line by criticizing U.S. bombing of North Viet Nam without his recent balancing condemnation of all foreign interference in Viet Nam.

Shastri returned today from an eight-day visit to the Soviet Union proclaiming that India has Moscow's "sympathy and support" in many matters. This contrasted with widespread belief in New Delhi that India isn't getting this from the United States.

The U.S. image in India has been in trouble since President Johnson said last month he was going to be busy with the Viet Nam crisis and domestic affairs and asked Shastri to postpone a visit to Washington in June.

Many in New Delhi took this as humiliating, heavy-handed rebuke for Shastri's attitude toward the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

American military aid equipment against Indian soldiers in the Rann of Kutch.

Pakistan made the same charges against India. Washington reminded both governments that American military aid was to be used against communism, not against each other.

Being put in the same boat with the Pakistani enemies made the Indians angrier.

Indian newspapers reported in great detail how the Soviets laid out the red carpet. President Johnson was too busy, the newspapers pointed out, but Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin interrupted his schedule to accompany Shastri from Moscow to Leningrad.

Indian officials who returned home before Shastri reported the Soviets were planning to double trade with India in the next five years to about $840 million a year.

The Soviets were also said to have promised to double aid for the next five-year development plan to $840 million.

There were broad hints of long-term credits and military aid — perhaps tanks to match those America gave Pakistan, ships to strengthen India's rusting navy or even supersonic jet fighters which the United States refused to provide.

Foster Parents Ordered To Give Up Adopted Girl

CLEVELAND (AP) — A childless couple who adopted a baby girl almost two years ago must return the child to her natural mother, the 8th District Ohio Court of Appeals ruled today.

The decision reversed a ruling of a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court judge who, in April 1964, allowed the child to remain with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Sherwin of University Heights, a Cleveland suburb.

A three-judge appeals court held that the child must be returned to her natural mother, Mrs. Carmeline McTaggart, 23, now operator of a beauty shop in Miami Beach, Fla.

Kyman J. Blum, attorney representing Mrs. McTaggart, said he expected her to come to Cleveland for the child.

"She'll be delighted," said Blum. "She was just here Tuesday and said she 'definitely wants the child.'"

The Sherwins received the baby when she was only a few days old. The girl, Heidi, will be two years old Friday. Sherwin is a catering manager for a baking company.

The appeals court said the common pleas court should have granted the habeas corpus writ sought by the natural mother, who wanted her child back from the couple who adopted her. She had challenged the legality of the baby adoption proceedings in Franklin County (Columbus) Court.

Because the Sherwins names are not in the journal entry approving placement, the appeals court ruled, they are "strangers to the record" and can show no right or claim to the child.

The court said the entry shows the hospital released the infant to a Columbus attorney who represented the Sherwins.

Mrs. McTaggart had testified in the lower court that Franklin County Court officials had threatened that her estranged husband would take her son, then 3, from her unless she agreed to the adoption of the little girl.

Court testimony showed that Mrs. McTaggart had been separated from her husband for a year when the baby girl was born. A divorce case is pending.

A spokesman for the Sherwins said the decision would be appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Solon Seeks Gag On Fellow Solons

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A state representative has proposed that any member of the House who speaks longer than three minutes be "shot, stuffed and displayed in a glass case in the state museum."

The order, filed Wednesday by Rep. James S. Erwin, also stipulated that this legend be hung around the neck of such executed legislators.

"Here I am, fore'er enshrined, my mouth is open, my teeth are shined; my colleagues treatment less than kind,"

"I talked them all deaf, dumb and blind."

The proposal was cheerfully killed as soon as it was read.

were aiding junta soldiers in the fight against the rebels. Some said they had seen American troops arrive with junta forces in three truckloads of reinforcements Tuesday.

A U.S. military spokesman said the only American troops with the junta were radio units assigned to help Dominican forces keep their gunfire away from the American lines.

In New York, U.N. Secretary-General U Thant called on the United States to "use its good offices" to get the rival Dominican factions to heed the ceasefire appeal issued by the Security Council last Friday.

Thant said his special Dominican envoy, Jose Antonio Mayobre de Venezuela, told U.S. officials in Santo Domingo there was an "unavoidable implication of United States involvement because of the inaction of United States forces during the (junta) offensive."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told the Security Council the United States had sent high-level diplomatic representatives to Santo Domingo to "help to stop the fighting and Stevenson said the United States 'is not taking sides' and its forces 'do not have a mandate to enforce the cease-fire.'"

Four Motorists Cited for Speed

Four motorists, all cited by the State Highway Patrol for exceeding the speed limit, were listed on today's Circleville Municipal Court docket.

Roberta Jones, 33, Lithopolis, waived a court hearing, paying a fine of $10 and costs for exceeding the speed limit by 10 miles per hour.

Paying fines of $15 and costs were Roy E. Miller, 47, Cincinnati; Charles E. Craig, 36, Columbus; Robert Wachtel, 36, Columbus.

Barter Deal

The United States has arranged an ingenious $85 million deal in Africa. Under the terms of the transaction, Washington plans to buy $30 million worth of uranium from South Africa and $30 million worth of industrial diamonds from the Congo in exchange for surplus farm commodities.

Actually, the United States needs neither uranium nor diamonds; it has plenty of both. But American diplomats say the deal will help the U. S. balance-of-payments position, at least in so far as the uranium deal is concerned.

The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has a contract with the Atomic Energy Board of South Africa which would have obliged the United States to pay out $55 million in currency. Instead, surplus farm products sold overseas will supply the cash.

The diamond transaction apparently comes in the nick of time for the Congo economy. According to State Department officials, the Congo's major Belgian producer had planned a drastic cut in production to prevent a slump in prices. This would have meant a revenue loss to the Congo whose hard currency reserve has been hard hit by the rebellion there.

And of course, what is good for the Congo is also good for the Belgian company, the Societe Miniere de Bakwanga.

Because the diamonds will be paid for by proceeds of the sale of farm supplies, it could be said the help to the Congo is an inexpensive brand of foreign aid. At least dollars won't be flowing to the Congo for diamonds the U. S. really doesn't need.

It could also be said, of course, that the U. S. balance of payments would have benefited from the sale of farm products, minus the uranium and diamond commitments. But it is easier and cheaper to store $30 million of diamonds than $30 million worth of grain.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

DOWN IN LITTLE ROCK, Bessie Moore reports a hectic battle of words that involved no less than six very angry housewives. They raised such a racket that the lot of them were hauled off to night court in a paddy wagon.

All six began explaining to the judge at the same time. Finally His Honor banged his gavel and decreed, "You can tell your stories ONE AT A TIME. And I'll hear the oldest first."

That closed the case.

A Westchester town was conducting a drive to round up unlicensed dogs, and in the course thereof a zealous cop waved the man driving an open roadster to the curb. "I was only doing 25 miles an hour," protested the driver. "It's not that," the cop assured. "It's that dog on the front seat with you. Has he got a license?" "He doesn't need one," exclaimed the man angrily. "I do all the driving myself."

Thanks to the invention of pop-top cans, notes Robin Marais, you no longer need hunt for an opener. The time thus saved can be put to much better use. Like searching for bandages.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Sulphur drugs were prescribed for me for an infection of the prostate and of the bladder. I have been taking them on and off for a few years whenever I feel there is a need for them. Can they be harmful to the kidneys after such a long tie?

Mr. R.S.K., W. Virginia
Dear Mr. K.: The drug you probably are taking is sulfa, short for sulfonamide. This is not in any way related to the chemical sulphur.

Sulfonamides are remarkable drugs for the control and cure of many urinary, prostate, bladder and kidney infections. But they must never be taken without the very specific directions and instructions of the physician who originally prescribed them.

Taking any drug on and off whenever you "feel the need" can be hazardous. Reactions to drugs can and do occur even after taking them safely for a long time. The original condition may no longer exist or you may need further study by your physician.

Self medication serves to delay the medical consultation that may prevent extension of long standing bladder disease. The sulfa drugs have probably done no damage to your kidneys.

Can pain in the ear be caused

An LBJ Supporter

We are constantly being told that there is a "world opinion" to which we must defer in foreign policy moves. But the State Department official who, in a scoffing reply to a well-known commentator, remarked that the vast majority in Asia don't even know where Vietnam is was probably pretty close to the truth. In any event, there is no single opinion, no consensus, even among literates in Asia about the actions of the U. S. in South Vietnam.

The Indian intellectuals are supposedly against what we are doing — or, at least, so we are asked to judge from the words of Nehru's successor, Prime Minister Shastri. Both Nehru and Shastri can be truly represented as the heirs of Mahatma Gandhi. But they are not the only heirs. For Rajmohan Gandhi, the grandson of India's revered liberator, has come forward with a new interpretation of his grandfather's doctrines that differs somewhat from the Nehru-Shastri variety. In his own weekly magazine, Himmatt, young Gandhi has chosen, in the name of peace and his own Indian version of the Western idea of "Moral Re-Armament," to support what Lyndon Johnson has been doing in Vietnam.

Since the Moral Re-Armament movement in the West was identified in the Nineteen Thirties with pacifism, Rajmohan Gandhi may appear to be a walking contradiction. But the young man make a good deal of basic sense. He argues that there are two colliding realities in Southeast Asia. The first reality is that the Hanoi and Peking regimes will, "short of inviting serious damage upon themselves," adopt every means to force Communism on South Vietnam. The second reality is, that by fighting to prevent the Communization of South Vietnam, "America is stemming Communism in Asia as a whole."

Like his grandfather, young Gandhi doesn't believe you can conquer ideas with bullets. But he is realist enough to know that passive resistance only works against an enemy who is himself fundamentally humane. Fighting the British, a nation with a long Christian and parliamentary tradition, by sit-down tactics and marches to the sea, as Mahatma Gandhi did, is one thing. But fighting Communists by such tactics only invites disaster.

Knowing the difference between enemies, Rajmohan Gandhi says that "whether or not we like the American manner of fighting in Vietnam, and whether or not we believe that the Vietnamese people want the American military presence, this presence lengthens freedom's duration in India. We need to be grateful, therefore, for the American soldier who leaves family and comfort and roughs it out in Vietnam at considerable risk. . . . Should the A-mericans decide to pull out of Vietnam, a pro-Communist or fully Communist government will soon be installed in Saigon.

Laos will then speedily succumb, and Thailand will be in a precarious state. If Thailand goes Communist, what remains of Burma's freedom will disappear and Rangoon's status will quite likely be reduced to that of a provincial capital of China. Malaysia will be unable then to stay outside Peking's control. China's grip on Indochina will become tighter and stronger and will not fail, in fact, to crush us."

These are the words of a young man who is able, among other things, to read a map. Fewer and fewer people have been able to do that since geography was banished from the schools in favor of an amorphous monstrosity named "social studies."

Going beyond his realpolitik, however, young Gandhi picks up the main thread of his grandfather's thinking. The "third reality" in South Vietnam, he says, is that "Communism is strong. . . and will not vanish if military and financial aid from Peking and Hanoi were to end. . . . This basic truth has got to be faced — you cannot kill an idea with a bullet or a bomb. You can only defeat it with a better idea."

It is at this point that young Gandhi offers "Moral Re-Armament" as a superior idea. He means by this a "program of moral revolution," and, oddly, he recalls that the murdered President Diem had urged that South Vietnam "be saturated with Moral Re-Armament."

Whether this is useful recollection is beyond this columnist's judgment; an Asiatic country may want something more than a religious importation from the West. But it is true that if South Vietnam is not held for freedom by military power, no idea there will have a chance against Communism.

Jane Fonda Says Father's Name Proves To Be Help

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With pouty face, long, taffy-hued tresses and hip-hugging pants, she looked like the latest movie star from France as she strolled down the steps to the Beverly Hills Hotel pool.

But when she spoke, the tones were not Left Bank but Eastern U.S. finishing school. She is Jane Fonda, daughter of that most American of film stars, Henry Fonda.

The French influence is no doubt the result of Jane's romance with the French people and, on a more personal basis, with Roger Vadim, the mentor and one-time husband of Brigitte Bardot. He has been visiting Jane here.

The second-generation actress, on a day off from the Marlon Brando film "The Chase," took a poolside table and talked about such things as France and being a second-generation actress.

If anything can improve our relations with France, perhaps it can be Jane. Reports from Paris indicate that she has been as well received as any American since Ben Franklin — well, Eddie Constantine, anyway.

"It's very simple: my father," she replied. "I knew he was popular, but I never realized what a hold he had on Europeans. He is loved everywhere, even in Russia, where 'War and Peace' and 'Grapes of Wrath' were very popular. They love him in France and other countries because he made social pictures.

"That admiration was naturally transferred to me. And I couldn't be more grateful."

Jane admitted there might be other elements as well, such as the fact that she didn't just pass through France. She stayed. She not only established herself in a Paris apartment; she bought a farm 45 minutes from the city and converted it to a home for herself. She still has both — as well as her own New York apartment and a rented house at Malibu.

"But I'm not an expatriate by any means," she added. "I still am very much American and will stay that way."

La Fonda made two pictures in France, but it remained for a basic American horse opera to shift her career into high gear. She stars in "Cat Ballou," a raucous, rip-snorting Western that has drawn as many critical huzzahs as any film in 1965 so far.

"It's quite a new experience for me," said Jane. "I've been in films that made money but got poor reviews. I've been in films that got good reviews but weren't well received. This is the first time I seem to be in a picture that gets both."

"I'm still a bit amazed. None of us thought the script offered much, and we weren't sure what we had when we finished. The picture only lasted 28 days. Apparently it has a quality that will pay off."

So does Jane Fonda, apparently. She is carving her own career without fighting the fact that she is daughter of a star. Far from it.

"Being Henry Fonda's daughter has done me nothing but good in this business," she declared. "I couldn't be more grateful."

Solons of India Ponder Kissing

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — To kiss or not to kiss was the question before the Indian Parliament.

Negro Lady To Be Named Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patricia Roberts Harris, an assistant professor of law at Howard University here, will be nominated to be ambassador to Luxembourg — the first Negro woman ever to have ambassadorial rank abroad.

Three Negro men now are serving as ambassadors abroad. Mrs. Harris will be nominated to succeed William R. Rivkin, who has resigned.

Mrs. Harris, a native of Mattoon, Ill., received her a.b. degree from Howard University in 1945 and did graduate work at the University of Chicago and American University here. She received a doctor of laws degree from George Washington University in 1960, ranking first in her class. She also was assistant editor of the George Washington Law Review.

Before becoming an assistant professor at the Howard University law school, she served for two years as an attorney in the Justice Department's criminal division. She currently is a member of a commission studying the future political status of Puerto Rico.

She is married to William Beasley Harris, a Washington attorney.

Wife-Slaying Costs Man Term in Prison

STUEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — William L. Cross, charged with the fatal shooting of his wife LaVerne, was sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Ohio Penitentiary Wednesday by Jefferson County Common Pleas Court Judge John Gresinger.

Cross, a tavern owner from Riddles Run, was accused of shooting his wife, then turning the gun on himself last Oct. 30 in the presence of a deputy sheriff who was at the tavern to serve Cross a warrant for threatening his wife with bodily harm.

moves to strengthen film censorship, which the Indian government uses in a fatherly attempt to protect the nation's morals.

Kissing, said one woman member, is "totally irrelevant" to the Indian way of life and, therefore, shouldn't be permitted in Indian movies. A kissing scene, she said, amounts to "distortion of reality."

Warning to the subject, male members of Parliament chimed in with comments.

A Communist member said kissing was O.K. but that he didn't want any "perverted songs and seinnude pictures of women" flashed on screens around the country.

The subject of kissing has been bothering India for a long time.

Madras and Bombay — India's version of Hollywood — for years solved the problem in somewhat the same manner the Lone Ranger and his cowboy colleagues used to. Where the cowboys headed for girls but swerved off to kiss their horses, Indian stars bore in on collision osculatory course — and then burst into song.

Or, they spun away and wrapped themselves in barmy embrace around the nearest tree.

In one Indian film, every time it appeared a kiss was coming for sure, a mysterious stranger would jump out of the bushes brandishing a knife. The hero always had to break off and fight a duel — singing all the while.

The average Indian male wouldn't dream of kissing a woman, even his wife, in public. Increasingly, however, they're beginning to feel maybe the West has something in this kissing business. As a result, American films featuring bikinis and temperature-raising love scenes are extremely popular. Indian men flock to theaters by the thousands.

But, says Parliament, they shouldn't expect to see any "made-in-India" kissing scenes.

Barter Deal

The United States has arranged an ingenious $85 million deal in Africa. Under the terms of the transaction, Washington plans to buy $30 million worth of uranium from South Africa and $30 million worth of industrial diamonds from the Congo in exchange for surplus farm commodities.

Actually, the United States needs neither uranium nor diamonds; it has plenty of both. But American diplomats say the deal will help the U. S. balance-of-payments position, at least in so far as the uranium deal is concerned.

The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has a contract with the Atomic Energy Board of South Africa which would have obliged the United States to pay out $85 million in currency. Instead, surplus farm products sold overseas will supply the cash.

The diamond transaction apparently comes in the nick of time for the Congo economy. According to State Department officials, the Congo's major Belgian producer had planned a drastic cut in production to prevent a slump in prices. This would have meant a revenue loss to the Congo whose hard currency reserve has been hard hit by the rebellion there.

And of course, what is good for the Congo is also good for the Belgian company, the Societe Miniere de Bakwanga.

Because the diamonds will be paid for by proceeds of the sale of farm supplies, it could be said the help to the Congo is an inexpensive brand of foreign aid. At least dollars won't be flowing to the Congo for diamonds the U. S. really doesn't need.

It could also be said, of course, that the U. S. balance of payments would have benefited from the sale of farm products, minus the uranium and diamond commitments. But it is easier and cheaper to store $30 million of diamonds than $30 million worth of grain.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

DOWN IN LITTLE ROCK, Bessie Moore reports a hectic battle of words that involved no less than six very angry housewives. They raised such a racket that the lot of them were hauled off to night court in a paddy wagon. All six began explaining to the judge at the same time. Finally His Honor banged his gavel and decreed, "You can tell your stories ONE AT A TIME. And I'll hear the oldest first."

That closed the case. A Westchester town was conducting a drive to round up unlicensed dogs, and in the course thereof a zealous cop waved the man driving an open roadster to the curb. "It's not that, the cop assured, 'It's that dog on the front seat with you. Has he got a license?' 'He doesn't need one,' exclaimed the man angrily. 'I do all the driving myself.'"

Thanks to the invention of pop-top cans, notes Robin Marria, you no longer need hunt for an opener. The time thus saved can be put to much better use. Like searching for bandages.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Sulphur drugs were prescribed for me for an infection of the prostate and of the bladder. I have been taking them on and off for a few years whenever I feel there is a need for them. Can they be harmful to the kidneys after such a long tie?

Mr. R.S.K., W. Virginia

Dear Mr. K.: The drug you probably are taking is sulfa, short for sulfonamide. This is not in any way related to the chemical sulphur.

Sulfonamides are remarkable drugs for the control and cure of many urinary, prostate, bladder and kidney infections. But they must never be taken without the very specific directions and instructions of the physician who originally prescribed them.

Taking any drug on and off whenever you "feel the need" can be hazardous. Reactions to drugs can and do occur even after taking them safely for a long time. The original condition may no longer exist or you may need further study by your physician.

Self medication serves to delay the medical consultation that may prevent extension of long standing bladder disease.

The sulfa drugs have probably done no damage to your kidneys.

Can pain in the ear be caused by a dental condition?

Mrs. E. J., Colorado
Dear Mrs. J.: The nerves of the teeth, face and head are very closely related to each other. Often pain is referred to a distant area by disease of the gums and teeth. A poor bite (malocclusion) can affect the jaw joint and refer pain to the ears.

Is pregnancy after the age of 35 more difficult or dangerous to the mother and the child?

Mrs. K. S. S., Mass.
Dear Mrs. S.: If the general health is good, there should be no concern about normal pregnancy and a perfectly healthy child.

Modern care during pregnancy and the refined techniques during anesthesia and childbirth should be a source of great comfort even at the young age of 35.

An LBJ Supporter

We are constantly being told that there is a "world opinion" to which we must defer in foreign policy moves. But the ex-State Department official who, in a scolding reply to a well-known commentator, remarked that the vast majority in Asia don't even know where Vietnam is was probably pretty close to the truth. In any event, there is no single opinion, no consensus, even among literates in Asia about the actions of the U. S. in South Vietnam.

The Indian intellectuals are supposedly against what we are doing — or, at least, so we are asked to judge from the words of Nehru's successor, Prime Minister Shastri. Both Nehru and Shastri can be truly represented as the heirs of Mahatma Gandhi. But they are not the only heirs. For Rajmohan Gandhi, the grandson of India's revered liberator, has come forward with a new interpretation of his grandfather's doctrine that differs somewhat from the Nehru-Shastri variety. In his own weekly magazine, Himmatt, young Gandhi has chosen, in the name of peace and his own Indian version of the Western idea of "Moral Re-Armament," to support what Lyndon Johnson has been doing in Vietnam.

Since the Moral Re-Armament movement in the West was identified in the Nineteen Thirties with pacifism, Rajmohan Gandhi may appear to be a walking contradiction. But the young man make a good deal of basic sense. He argues that there are two colliding realities in Southeast Asia. The first reality is that the Hanoi and Peking regimes will, "short of inviting serious damage upon themselves," adopt every means to force Communism on South Vietnam. The second reality is, that by fighting to prevent the Communization of South Vietnam, "America is stemming Communism in Asia as a whole."

Like his grandfather, young Gandhi doesn't believe you can conquer ideas with bullets. But he is realistic enough to know that passive resistance only works against an enemy who is himself fundamentally humane. Fighting the British, a nation with a long Christian and parliamentary tradition, by sit-down tactics and marches to the sea, as Mahatma Gandhi did, is one thing. But fighting Communists by such tactics only invites disaster.

Knowing the difference between enemies, Rajmohan Gandhi says that "whether or not we like the American manner of fighting in Vietnam, and whether or not we believe that the Vietnamese people want the American military presence, this presence lengthens freedom's duration in India. We need to be grateful, therefore, for the American soldier who leaves family and comfort and roughs it out in Vietnam at considerable risk. . . . Should the Americans decide to pull out of Vietnam, a pro-Communist or fully Communist government will soon be installed in Saigon. Laos will then speedily succumb, and Thailand will be in a precarious state. If Thailand goes Communist, what remains of Burma's freedom will disappear and Rangoon's status will quite likely be reduced to that of a provincial capital of China. Malaysia will be unable then to stay outside Peking's control. China's grip on India will become tighter and stronger and will not fail, in fact, to crush us."

These are the words of a young man who is able, among other things, to read a map. Fewer and fewer people have been able to do that since geography was banished from the schools in favor of an amorphous monstrosity named "social studies."

Going beyond his realpolitik, however, young Gandhi picks up the main thread of his grandfather's thinking. The "third reality" in South Vietnam, he says, is that "Communism is strong. . . and will not vanish if military and financial aid from Peking and Hanoi were to end. . . . This basic truth has got to be faced — you cannot kill an idea with a bullet or a bomb. You can only defeat it with a better idea."

It is at this point that young Gandhi offers "Moral Re-Armament" as a superior idea. He means by this a "program of moral revolution," and, oddly, he recalls that the murdered President Diem had urged that South Vietnam "be saturated with Moral Re-Armament." Whether this is useful recollection is beyond this columnist's judgment; an Asiatic country may want something more than a religious importation from the West. But it is true that if South Vietnam is not held for freedom by military power, no idea there will have a chance against Communism.

Dear Abby: Wrong Definition, Lady!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Something is wrong with the laws in our town. My 18-year-old boy was picked up again for "loitering." He and some friends of his were standing on a street corner minding their own business when this cop came along and started asking them a lot of questions. Since when is it against the law for a person to stand on a street corner?

The reason those kids were standing around doing nothing is because there isn't anything for kids to do in this town. Don't you think society is committing a crime against our children instead of our children committing a crime against society? Doesn't society owe its young people anything?

TAXPAYER
DEAR TAXPAYER: "Society" owes us nothing. But we owe society our cooperation, energy, talent and time. Too many parents expect "society" to provide their children with "something to do." Moral lessons are learned at home. Give your child a healthy, happy, home life, introduce him to church at an early age, and you won't have to worry about what he's doing when he has nothing to do.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please give me your definition of a "house guest"? A relative of mine has a 24-year-old fellow staying at her home. She introduces him as her "house guest." This relative is crowding 50 and is living it up on the insurance money left to her by her late 76-year-old husband. Since his death two years ago, she has taken one cruise after another collecting these young characters. Anyone with half an eye can see that this young man is taking her for all he can get. But she is so flattered that a young man would pay any attention to her she doesn't even notice. It is disgusting! How can we stop her from making a fool of herself and disgracing the family name? We are a very proud six-generation American family.

DISGRACED RELATIVES
DEAR DISGRACED: A house guest is simply a guest in one's home. There is no age limit, none is there a time limit. Your relative doesn't need the approval of her family to keep a house guest. And don't worry about her "disgracing" the family name. One disgraces only oneself.

DEAR ABBY: Please write something on jealousy some time. My husband sets little stones on the back door when he leaves to see if it has been opened. If a man passes our house, he pushes me toward the door and says, "Why don't you go to him? He's looking for you." If I lift my hand to my hair in the evening, he says I am signaling the man next door. He is always seeing "tracks" or someone running from house to house. This is all in his imagination. I stay behind four walls trying to keep peace. I don't even speak to the neighbors. But it doesn't help. He keeps accusing me and imagining things. He reads your column, Abby, and he believes what you say. Maybe he'll listen to you.

PRISONER
DEAR PRISONER: Your husband is a sick man. You must do everything in your power to help him. Living with a disturbed person can destroy your health, too. I urge you to see your doctor and tell him everything.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN A QUANDARY": I see no future for you and "S." The reason being that you won't accept him when he's drunk, and he won't ask you when he's sober.

Senate Denies Hitch-Hiking On Freeways

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An effort to open Ohio's freeways to hitch-hikers has been defeated by the Ohio Senate with passage of a measure designed to curb accidents on superhighways.

Senators gave 24-6 approval Wednesday to the proposal banning pedestrians, bicycles, and slow-moving vehicles from freeways with up to a $50 fine for the first offense.

Sen. Francis D. Sullivan, D-Cuyahoga, sought to amend the measure by Sen. Jim Thorpe R-Stark, to conform with present laws permitting hitch-hikers on highways so long as they stand off the roadway.

"My main concern is the many college students who hitch-hike home on the weekends. We shouldn't punish these young fellows," Sullivan argued.

Thorpe countered that his intent was to punish no one and added: "This is a safety measure. We might do the students more harm than good by allowing them on freeways with traffic moving 70 miles an hour."

The House voted overwhelmingly for an emergency measure calling for an comprehensive study of state and local tax laws.

Under the proposal, which now goes to the Senate, an 11-member bipartisan commission would be created to make the study and make recommendations by February 1, 1967.

The measure carries a $150,000 appropriation to pay for the study.

The legislature received four more reappointment proposals during the lengthy session—three in the House and one in the Senate. Hearings are underway in the Senate on its proposals, which now total five. Six are pending in the House, where hearings are expected to begin next week.

Senate debate rumbled on for nearly an hour over a bill that would give private operators of municipal transit systems a tax break. Finally passed 19-11 was a measure returning to transit systems three-fourths of a cent of the taxes they pay on each gallon of gasoline.

Sen. Robert Shaw, R-Franklin, and Donald J. Pease, D-Lorain, attacked the measure on grounds it is the wrong approach to helping financially troubled transit systems which have had to cut services and in some cases go out of business.

Sen. Charles H. Jones, R-Butler, a cosponsor of the measure, said the amount refunded to transit systems probably would be about $42 a bus, with estimates of the yearly total ranging from $125,000-$180,000 a year.

Other bills passed by the Senate would clarify statutes prohibiting solicitation for an act of sexual perversion, require dog owners to keep their pets confined or under control, and update antiquated and undated laws covering meetings of county commissioners.

The House passed and sent to the Senate bills to appropriate $500,000 to reimburse counties for court costs of indigents, give persons in custody the right to counsel, and establish a central unit to perform administrative functions for 11 state professional boards.

Mrs. Brunton Entertains Guild No. 6

Mrs. Clarence Brunton, Pontius Lane, entertained eight members of Berger Hospital Guild No. 6 Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Gerald Doering, chairman, presided at the meeting. She stated that the report of the April General Guild meeting would be presented at a later date.

Members were asked to concentrate their efforts on finding new projects for raising money for the hospital during the summer recess. Mrs. Doering said that the guild would not be able to sponsor the vending machines at the hospital as the General Guild will be in charge of this project.

The annual June Dinner will be held June 15 at the Jai Lai Restaurant, Columbus. The traveling prize was won by Mrs. Ben Temple.

A dessert course was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Doering.

Negro Lady To Be Named Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patricia Roberts Harris, an assistant professor of law at Howard University here, will be nominated to be ambassador to Luxembourg — the first Negro woman ever to have ambassadorial rank abroad.

Three Negro men now are serving as ambassadors abroad. Mrs. Harris will be nominated to succeed William R. Rivkin, who has resigned.

Mrs. Harris, a native of Mattoon, Ill., received her a.b. degree from Howard University in 1945 and did graduate work at the University of Chicago and American University here. She received a doctor of laws degree from George Washington University in 1960, ranking first in her class. She also was assistant editor of the George Washington Law Review.

Before becoming an assistant professor at the Howard University law school, she served for two years as an attorney in the Justice Department's criminal division. She currently is a member of a commission studying the future political status of Puerto Rico.

She is married to William Beasley Harris, a Washington attorney.

Wife-Slaying Costs Man Term in Prison

STEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — William L. Cross, charged with the fatal shooting of his wife LaVerne, was sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Ohio Penitentiary Wednesday by Jefferson County Common Pleas Court Judge John Gresinger.

Cross, a tavern owner from Riddles Run, was accused of shooting his wife, then turning the gun on himself last Oct. 30 in the presence of a deputy sheriff who was at the tavern to serve Cross a warrant for threatening his wife with bodily harm.

moves to strengthen film censorship, which the Indian government uses in a fatherly attempt to protect the nation's morals.

Kissing, said one woman member, is "totally irrelevant" to the Indian way of life and, therefore, shouldn't be permitted in Indian movies. A kissing scene, she said, amounts to "distortion of reality."

Warning to the subject, male members of Parliament chimed in with comments.

A Communist member said kissing was O.K. but that he didn't want any "perverted songs and seinate pictures of women" flashed on screens around the country.

The subject of kissing has been bothering India for a long time.

Madras and Bombay — India's version of Hollywood — for years solved the problem in somewhat the same manner the Lone Ranger and his cowboy colleagues used to. Where the cowboys headed for girls but swerved off to kiss their horses, Indian stars bore in on collision osculatory course — and then burst into song.

Or, they spun away and wrapped themselves in bawdy embrace around the nearest tree.

In one Indian film, every time it appeared a kiss was coming for sure, a mysterious stranger would jump out of the bushes brandishing a knife. The hero always had to break off and fight a duel — singing all the while.

The average Indian male wouldn't dream of kissing a woman, even his wife, in public. Increasingly, however, they're beginning to feel maybe the West has something in this kissing business. As a result, American films featuring bikinis and temperature-raising love scenes are extremely popular. Indian men flock to theaters by the thousands.

But, says Parliament, they shouldn't expect to see any "made-in-India" kissing scenes.

IT'S MERCHANDISING—This is the way one department store in Tokyo displays umbrellas, suspended from the ceiling, several hundred of them in varying sizes and colors.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Monroe Doctrine of 1823 was a rather pallid piece of paper until President Theodore Roosevelt put some decorations of his own on it.

Since then the United States, on and off, has had troubles with Latin-American countries including the Dominican Republic where rebels now are fighting a conservative junta.

President Johnson's efforts to get the Dominican people to agree on a coalition government with representatives from both sides would be one way of saving the United States from being tagged antirebel and proconservative.

It wouldn't be the first time the United States tried something like that in Latin America.

But whenever it happened, just as now, it was intervention in the affairs of another nation. It's one of the reasons the Dominican people reportedly have been growing anti-American by the day.

The Monroe Doctrine simply told the Europeans to keep hands off Latin America without saying whether or not the United States would ever interfere.

Actually it butted into Latin-American problems for years, sometimes outrageously, which built up a long history of anti-American feeling.

But what the Monroe Doctrine failed to mention, President Roosevelt added.

When the Dominicans in 1905 couldn't pay their debts to the United States and a number of European countries, Roosevelt, to straighten them out, took over the job of collecting the Dominican Republic's customs duties, giving them some of the receipts, using the rest to pay off the debts.

He said, and he could say it and get away with it because the Latin Americans couldn't match U.S. power, that this country would intervene in their problems any time it pleased, as for example, when there were disorders.

But as the years passed and disorders in the Dominican Republic spilled over into revolution — Roosevelt was gone by then — President Wilson sent in Marines in 1916 and they stayed until 1924.

But there, as often elsewhere, American tutelage in democracy wasn't effective, whether or not Americans stayed a short time or almost two decades.

While the United States ran the show in the Dominican Republic it trained a constabulary or military force, sometimes called a national guard, headed by Gen. Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina.

(The Marines spent 19 years in Nicaragua and built up a constabulary there under Gen. Anastasio Somoza.)

Within a few years after the Americans withdrew from the Dominican Republic, Trujillo took over. His dictatorship, and it was about as total as any in Latin-American history, lasted 31 years until he was shot in 1961.

After the Marines left Nicaragua, Somoza took over and his dictatorship lasted 20 years until he was shot in 1956.

But, for that matter, the United States had quite a history of friendliness and support for dictators. In 1954, for instance, it decorated Marcos Perez Jimenez, the Venezuelan dictator, with the Order of Merit. He was driven out two years later and the United States gave him refuge in Miami.

This didn't add to American popularity, either. The rebels, in the Dominican Republic, included all shades of thinking.

Johnson said the Marines were there to prevent a Communist takeover. Since the junta was conservative, this meant the Reds had to be among the rebels, and the effect was to make Johnson look antirebel and proconservative. He got a bid reaction in many places.

After a couple of weeks his administration, anxious to restore peace but undoubtedly equally anxious to avoid the appearance of preserving conservatives or reactionaries, sought to get both sides to agree to a coalition government. It didn't succeed. And, up to this point, it's stuck with the revolution.

Steel Union Chief To Quit

McDonald Concedes Election Defeat

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David J. McDonald will step down as president of the United Steelworkers Union next month without the fight he promised.

McDonald announced Wednesday that he was withdrawing his protests to the union's Feb. 9 election in which he was narrowly defeated by Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel.

Although associates said he still believes he won, McDonald told newsmen he was bowing out to avoid a lengthy legal wrangle that could weaken the union in its current contract talks with basic steel.

The negotiations, now facing a possible Sept. 1 strike date, were twice interrupted by the bitter Abel-McDonald struggle.

McDonald, 62, who once toiled for 22 cents an hour in mills where steelworkers now make more than $3.60 an hour, guided his union to some of its best contracts and through its longest strike — 116 days in 1959.

During his 12-year reign he negotiated the first comprehensive profit-sharing plan and won extended 13-week vacations for senior workers in first the aluminum, then the can and steel industries.

One of his abiding interests was the problems of older workers and those who had retired. It was an interest that came from seeing an illness kill his father who was still at work in the mills at 72.

McDonald was one of the first labor leaders to win pension increases for workers long retired. His own pension, when he steps out June 1, will be $25,000 a year. As president he was paid $50,000.

Presbyterians Warned of Dangers in Computers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The nation's biggest Presbyterian body convened today with a warning that computers may be a bigger threat to religion than the devil.

"Continuous concern with persons is the only thing that will preserve technological society from manipulating people and overriding personality," declared the Rev. John Coventry Smith of New York City. "Our lives of faith demonstrate a truth which extends beyond the areas where science speaks with authority," Smith said as the 177th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. opened here.

Dr. Edler Hawkins, the first Negro ever elected moderator, gave the opening sermon as 2,000 of the church's leaders assembled.

Election of a new moderator to replace Dr. Hawkins headed the order of business for the week-long session.

In two days of preassembly meetings, speakers hammered at what they viewed as accompanying evils of modern society, signaling a prelude to challenges the church faces in both doctrine and development.

A key issue before 835 voting delegates of the three-million-member denomination is modification of centuries-old doctrinal teachings. The changes: Salvation is not predestined and the Bible does not have to be interpreted literally.

The Presbyterians will also consider urging removal of legal barriers to interracial marriage.

The Rev. Mr. Smith, general secretary of the commission on ecumenical mission and relations, told a gathering Wednesday, "People are still people, but computers ignore individuality."

He termed a technologica

society one "where people become no more than punch holes in a card."

But, he added, people, "be they atomic scientist, operator of a computer or a grower of tulips have problems of dealing with themselves, with God and with each other."

Dear Abby:

Wrong Definition, Lady!

DEAR ABBY: Something is wrong with the laws in our town. My 18-year-old boy was picked up again for "loitering." He and some friends of his were standing on a street corner minding their own business when this cop came along and started asking them a lot of questions. Since when is it against the law for a person to stand on a street corner?

The reason those kids were standing around doing nothing is because there isn't anything for kids to do in this town. Don't you think society is committing a crime against our children instead of our children committing a crime against society? Doesn't society owe its young people anything?

TAXPAYER

DEAR TAXPAYER: "Society" owes nothing. But we owe society our cooperation, energy, talent and time. Too many parents expect "society" to provide their children with "something to do." Moral lessons are learned at home. Give your child a healthy, happy, home life, introduce him to church at an early age, and you won't have to worry about what he's doing when he has nothing to do.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please give me your definition of a "house guest"? A relative of mine has a 24-year-old fellow staying at her home. She introduces him as her "house guest." This relative is crowding 50 and is living it up on the insurance money left to her by her late 76-year-old husband. Since his death two years ago, she has taken one cruise after another collecting these young characters. Anyone with half an eye can see that this young man is taking her for all he can get. But she is so flattered that a young man would pay any attention to her she doesn't even notice. It is disgusting! How can we stop her from making a fool of herself and disgracing the family name? We are a very proud six-generation American family.

DISGRACED RELATIVES
DEAR DISGRACED: A house guest is simply a guest in one's home. There is no age limit, none is there a time limit. Your relative doesn't need the approval of her family to keep a house guest. And don't worry about her "disgracing" the family name. One disgraces only oneself.

DEAR ABBY: Please write something on jealousy some time. My husband sets little stones on the back door when he leaves to see if it has been opened. If a man passes our house, he pushes me toward the door and says, "Why don't you go to him? He's looking for you." If I lift my hand to my hair in the evening, he says I am signaling the man next door. He is always seeing "tracks" or someone running from house to house. This is all in his imagination. I stay behind four walls trying to keep peace. I don't even speak to the neighbors. But it doesn't help. He keeps accusing me and imagining things. He reads your column, Abby, and he believes what you say. Maybe he'll listen to you.

PRISONER
DEAR PRISONER: Your husband is a sick man. You must do everything in your power to help him. Living with a disturbed person can destroy your health, too. I urge you to see your doctor and tell him everything.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN A QUANDARY": I see no future for you and "S." The reason being that you won't accept him when he's drunk, and he won't ask you when he's sober.

WILD FLOWER MAN — Merle Sharp, Pickaway County farmer, prefers wildlings to cultivated flowers. There's room in his spacious yard for colonies of bluebells, larkspur, blue eyed Mary, violets and all the other Ohio wild flowers. Even lady slippers find a sanctuary here. Several of the wild orchids have grown happily to the north of the house for many years. Sharp is pictured leaning against the fence that surrounds his yard. Beautiful rolling countryside is in the distance.

Wildlings at Sharp Home Find Pleasant Sanctuary

Turn south at Logan Elm Park and look for a sign that reads, "Sharp Turn" and that's the way visitors get to the 93-year-old Sharp farmhouse which is almost a quarter of a mile from the main road.

The Sharp farm encompasses some 220 acres. A great grandfather settled in the community in 1803 and built a log cabin.

Merle Sharp who lives here with his brother, Sam, rounded the corner of white frame house with the green shutters. He extended to the garden editor a genuine and courtly welcome. He pointed out the Village of Kingston in the distance and the gentle hills near Chillicothe to the south.

At the Sharp farm one sees scenic rural Ohio at its tranquil best. Fertile, green fields and the wooded banks of Congo Creek make this a quiet beauty spot.

MERLE SHARP is not interested in cultivated flowers, but he loves the wildlings. And it is apparent that wild flowers love the shady home he provides for them. The tall trees which make up the grove surrounding the house evidently make the wildlings feel perfectly at home.

The bluebells which grow in profusion in one woody area were past their prime, but the blue-eyed Mary was at its loveliest. This is the modest true blue and white flower that blooms at tulip time and re-seeds itself. It is a pleasing sight when grown in masses.

The flowers were not planted in a garden exactly, but here and there along the fences and beside the house. Wherever they are planted they like it — just as the birds like the Sharp farm home and nest near the house as well as in the woods and old orchard.

Violets and larkspur were in bloom. There was Jacob's Ladder and wild columbine and fragrant spice bush. To the north of one wing of the house ferns and lady slippers were blooming. The yellow lady slipper was at its peak, the pink beginning to show color. A little white lady slipper brought years ago from Ohio's Blue Hole was in blossom. The small flowers were perfect in form.

Merle Sharp has a beautiful planting of valley lilies at the foundation of his house. And these seemed quite in company with the wild flowers.

The trees at the Sharp home are huge and beautiful and varied. Marvelous old maples were in full leaf. There was a buckeye in blossom and the stately tulip tree was about to show bloom. A tall beech grows near the driveway.

BUT THERE are newly planted trees, too. The red Japanese maple is still a small tree without much age. The gum tree has not attained full stature and the mountain ash was planted only this spring.

Merle Sharp has pruned the branches of the new mountain ash. He said that his cousin, Donald McBeth, who has considerable horticultural know-how, suggested that he prune it. Sam Sharp who shares the family home with his brother is in Dayton Veteran's Hospital for treatment of a back ailment. Until his death Frank Sharp, another brother, lived here, too. He shared with Merle an enthusiasm for nature. He also helped with the Indian relic collection which was started when they were boys.

The relics are carefully and beautifully displayed in cabinets in the house. The heavier ones, however, encircle a big tree in the front yard. Around this tree are fossils and interesting rocks and stone Indian tools like a corn pounder and animal skinner.

The housekeeper, Sarah Bryant, calls this the "rock tree" and the other giant maple, the "swing tree." She does the gardening and the housekeeping and has charge of the kitchen department.

Merle Sharp remembers some of the big trees when they were saplings. The tall beech for instance has been through many vicissitudes. When it was cane sized a visitor took out his pocket knife and was about to convert it into a walking stick for himself.

AN AUTOMOBILE driver backed into the beech one time and seriously injured it. Now there is only a dim scar to show.

Merle Sharp has many an amusing thing to tell about the birds nesting in the yard. Last year an indigo bunting built a nest and laid eggs in it. Another bird came along and laid a big egg in the same nest. The indigo bunting abandoned the whole project.

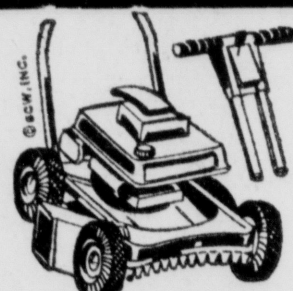

Mr. Sharp said he hoped a train would come along while I was there. And sure enough in a few minutes, in the distance and beyond the sound of it whistle and noise, a train, looking precisely like a toy, crawled slowly towards its destination. We estimated there were some 200 freight cars.

Mr. Sharp mows the large grass area, a no small task, himself. A Jack-in-the-pulpit suddenly made its appearance in the yard one year. He carefully mows around it. He has figured it is 10 feet from the base of a tree. And he's on the look-out for it when he mows.

The house boasts some rare and beautiful antiques as well as Indian relics. It is frame but as sturdy as the day it was built. And a more beautiful stairway can't be found. The kitchen is pleasant and modern.

A visit to the Sharp farm is an experience. There you will find a reverence and love for the old ways. The house has been loved and lived in by succeeding generations. And yet there's the feeling that the place and its occupants are stepping right along with time.

It's a nice blend — a love for the old and an acceptance of the new.

Garden Gossip

News of the week is that Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart has received and set up her misting bubble. This is a plastic bubble enclosing a misting nozzle which sprays a fine mist over the cuttings within. Some easy-to-grow cuttings will have roots within a few days.

It was the opinion of everybody who attended the Pickaway County Garden Club's tour of gardens that it ought to happen every year.

The pink dogwood at the home of the Merle Collins was a sight of considerable beauty last week. Dogwood blossoms seem to last longer than either the Japanese cherry or the flowering crab.

We were disappointed this year to find that the volunteer pink dogwood which we discovered last spring in a tulip tree planting was scarcely pink at all this year.

We also went by to see the pink buckeye tree in bloom at Kearns' Rest Home on N. Court St. This, too, was only vaguely pink this year. Its color was scarcely noticeable. Last year it was a lovely sight.

When I returned from St. Louis, my Paul's Scarlet hawthorne was in full bloom. Generally a bright red like bleeding heart the hawthorne this year was just a dark pink.

Railroad tracks are a great place for wild flowers. In some spots along the B & O the tracks were carpeted in dark purple — it was wild larkspur blooming. In another place the spiderswort was in blossom. This, too, is a dark blue violet.

At the Southern Ohio Judges Council meeting Tuesday there was a report concerning tulips that were red one year and yellow the next. The same person told of a planting of red and white tulips that were striped the second year.

Mrs. Reginald Blue, Chillicothe, who addressed the judges on "Point Scoring Tulips" had some pink tulips that had flourished in a certain location near her farm home for a good 10 years. The same time she planted these she planted the same sort of tulip bulbs, in another location, which had long since disappeared entirely.

Experts now favor de-branching delphinium. For some years exhibitors were told not to remove the side branches from a delphinium spike. Mrs. John Butler, new regional vice president for the Columbus Region Garden Club of Ohio, says that now days judges award the ribbon to the best grown spike with or without side branches.

My trip to the woods revealed that my red buckeye is still thriving. This is a volunteer, too, like the pink dogwood. Most of the volunteers are multiflora rose plants. Conservation or no conservation, we will rue the day that we ever planted multiflora rose hedges in this county.

Ann Shea, 494, E. Main St., called to say she had tulips that were almost black. There are indeed tulips that are almost black. Queen of the Night is such a variety and in my estimation is the nearest thing in existence to a black flower.

Phil Everett, Route 1, Laurelville, is finding out that a double row of iris is one row to many to keep weeded.

Mrs. Ben Gordon's orange poppy is blooming again in great profusion. The Gordons live on Northridge Road.

Another family that has a splendid planting of orange Or-

Annuals Fill Gardening Needs Well

In beds, pots or flower boxes, annual plants add splashes of brilliant color to outdoor living areas, lawns, porches and walks.

Their great value for garden living lies in their summer bloom and bright colors which add a feeling of summer gaiety, or "life at its best."

The pelargoniums (geraniums) blooming from spring to frost; the lantanas, marigolds, candytuft, delphiniums, poppies, petunias, verbena, salvia and zinnias, to name only a few, can be purchased by the dozen, or as small plants by the "flat" or box, containing up to 50 plants or more.

By setting out the small plants instead of planting seed, amentals is the Willard Speakman family, Route 4. They have poppies and orchid sweet rocket blooming together. Curiously enough this is a stunning and beautiful combination.

Wilbur Pontius had a glorious poppy patch last year. When bloom time is over he just mows over the plants as though they were grass. They come up every year, too. The Pontius family lives at Route 1, Kings-ton.

We wonder if it would be possible to start a roadside planting of orange Orientals! The orange daylilies that brighten the roadsides in July were once garden flowers.

Miss Mary Shortridge, Route 2, had a most difficult time getting Oriental poppies started in her garden. A neighbor declared she'd bring poppies that would grow. And she did. Mary says she's digging them out now so they won't crowd other flowers.

the home owner get blooms four weeks or more earlier in the season. Plants like geraniums, ageratum, heliotrope, ver-bena, etc., customarily are available in pots in bud and bloom thus immediately changing a bare bed or flower box to a mass of color.

ANOTHER advantage of the plants is that they can be uniformly placed in beds for better effects.

One of the most striking features of annuals is the sharp and beautiful color contrasts of the flowers.

Salmon colored geraniums and blue ageratum border are examples, or red geraniums and white alysium. Such combinations are innumerable, and any nurseryman can point them out.

Local merchants have a fine selection of annuals. Many of the plants are already blooming and will continue to do so until after autumn frosts. By Decoration Day the choice will be more limited.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Monroe Doctrine of 1823 was a rather pallid piece of paper until President Theodore Roosevelt put some decorations of his own on it.

Since then the United States, on and off, has had troubles with Latin-American countries including the Dominican Republic where rebels now are fighting a conservative junta.

President Johnson's efforts to get the Dominican people to agree on a coalition government with representatives from both sides would be one way of saving the United States from being tagged antirebel and proconservative.

It wouldn't be the first time the United States tried something like that in Latin America.

But whenever it happened, just as now, it was intervention in the affairs of another nation. It's one of the reasons the Dominican people reportedly have been growing anti-American by the day.

The Monroe Doctrine simply told the Europeans to keep hands off Latin America without saying whether or not the United States would ever interfere.

Actually it butted into Latin-American problems for years, sometimes outrageously, which built up a long history of anti-American feeling.

But what the Monroe Doctrine failed to mention, President Roosevelt added.

When the Dominicans in 1905 couldn't pay their debts to the United States and a number of European countries, Roosevelt, to straighten them out, took over the job of collecting the Dominican Republic's customs duties, giving them some of the receipts, using the rest to pay off the debts.

He said, and he could say it and get away with it because the Latin Americans couldn't match U.S. power, that this country would intervene in their problems any time it pleased, as for example, when there were disorders.

But as the years passed and disorders in the Dominican Republic spilled over into revolution — Roosevelt was gone by then — President Wilson sent in Marines in 1916 and they stayed until 1924.

But there, as often elsewhere, American tutelage in democracy wasn't effective, whether or not Americans stayed a short time or almost two decades.

While the United States ran the show in the Dominican Republic it trained a constabulary or military force, sometimes called a national guard, headed by Gen. Rafael Leonidas Trujillo Molina.

(The Marines spent 19 years in Nicaragua and built up a constabulary there under Gen. Anastasio Somoza.)

Within a few years after the Americans withdrew from the Dominican Republic, Trujillo took over. His dictatorship, and it was about as total as any in Latin-American history, lasted 31 years until he was shot in 1961.

After the Marines left Nicaragua, Somoza took over and his dictatorship lasted 20 years until he was shot in 1956.

But, for that matter, the United States had quite a history of friendliness and support for dictators. In 1954, for instance, it decorated Marcos Perez Jimenez, the Venezuelan dictator, with the Order of Merit. He was driven out two years later and the United States gave him refuge in Miami.

This didn't add to American popularity, either. The rebels, in the Dominican Republic, included all shades of thinking.

Johnson said the Marines were there to prevent a Communist takeover. Since the junta was conservative, this meant the Reds had to be among the rebels, and the effect was to make Johnson look antirebel and proconservative. He got a bid reaction in many places.

After a couple of weeks his administration, anxious to restore peace but undoubtedly equally anxious to avoid the appearance of preserving conservatives or reactionaries, sought to get both sides to agree to a coalition government. It didn't succeed. And, up to this point, it's stuck with the revolution.

Steel Union Chief To Quit

McDonald Concedes Election Defeat

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David J. McDonald will step down as president of the United Steelworkers Union next month without the fight he promised.

McDonald announced Wednesday that he was withdrawing his protests to the union's Feb. 9 election in which he was narrowly defeated by Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel.

Although associates said he still believes he won, McDonald told newsmen he was bowing out to avoid a lengthy legal wrangle that could weaken the union in its current contract talks with basic steel.

The negotiations, now facing a possible Sept. 1 strike date, were twice interrupted by the bitter Abel-McDonald struggle.

McDonald, 62, who once toiled for 22 cents an hour in mills where steelworkers now make more than $3.60 an hour, guided his union to some of its best contracts and through its longest strike — 116 days in 1959.

During his 12-year reign he negotiated the first comprehensive profit-sharing plan and won extended 13-week vacations for senior workers in first the aluminum, then the can and steel industries.

One of his abiding interests was the problems of older workers and those who had retired. It was an interest that came from seeing an illness kill his father who was still at work in the mills at 72.

McDonald was one of the first labor leaders to win pension increases for workers long retired. His own pension, when he steps out June 1, will be $25,000 a year. As president he was paid $50,000.

Presbyterians Warned of Dangers in Computers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The nation's biggest Presbyterian body convened today with a warning that computers may be a bigger threat to religion than the devil.

"Continuous concern with persons is the only thing that will preserve technological society from manipulating people and overriding personality," declared the Rev. John Coventry Smith of New York City. "Our lives of faith demonstrate a truth which extends beyond the areas where science speaks with authority," Smith said as the 177th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church U.S.A. opened here.

Dr. Edler Hawkins, the first Negro ever elected moderator, gave the opening sermon as 2,000 of the church's leaders assembled.

Election of a new moderator to replace Dr. Hawkins headed the order of business for the week-long session.

In two days of preassembly meetings, speakers hammered at what they viewed as accompanying evils of modern society, signaling a prelude to challenges the church faces in both doctrine and development.

A key issue before 835 voting delegates of the three-million-member denomination is modification of centuries-old doctrinal teachings. The changes: Salvation is not predestined and the Bible does not have to be interpreted literally.

The Presbyterians will also consider urging removal of legal barriers to interracial marriage.

The Rev. Mr. Smith, general secretary of the commission on ecumenical mission and relations, told a gathering Wednesday, "People are still people, but computers ignore individuality."

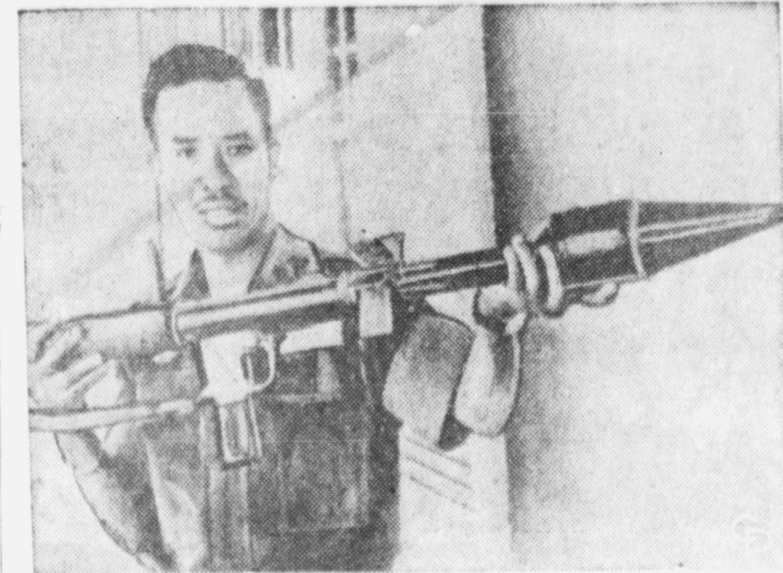

He termed a technologica

society one "where people become no more than punch holes in a card."

But, he added, people, "be they atomic scientist, operator of a computer or a grower of tulips have problems of dealing with themselves, with God and with each other."

"We are in this world as Christians not just as inhabitants."

Planting Can Be Done Most Any Time, Nurserymen Say

Ever walk around your property in summer and observe the need for additional shrubs and trees, yet think it's out of season to plant?

If you do, forget it and go right ahead and plant them, says the American Assn. of Nurserymen. Seasonal planting of many seeds is necessary, but most trees and shrubs can be planted anytime.

The reason is that nurserymen now grow a large number of shrubs and trees in individual containers so they can be set out without disturbing their roots or growth. Anytime can be a favorable time. So plant when you have the urge.

Suppose you want a rose garden, and it's June or later? During these months one can go to a nursery, usually see flowers in bloom and take the plants home and set out a few or a whole rose garden as preferred.

THE SAME thing can be done with evergreens in foundation plantings or elsewhere on the property.

Suppose you get a sudden hot spell of weather in summer and you dream of a cool shade tree? Why not plant it, then; and have a permanent outdoor umbrella, with nature storing it in winter for you when it sheds its leaves, only to open up again with air-conditioning foliage when you need it most.

Trees, by what is known as transpiration, or vaporization of moisture from the leaves, actually cool the air.

Heat speeds the process of transpiration on hot days thus providing greater cooling action when you need it most.

This is Mother Nature's way of keeping animal life more comfortable. Either large or small shade trees can be set out.

Whenever you feel that need to plant, regardless of the season, just go right ahead and do it. So many advances in planting have been made by the nursery industry that summer planting not only is successful, but is growing greatly in volume.

Today complete landscaping also is done right through the summer months, with success guaranteed.

Oriental poppies do not transplant well in the spring. Transplant them in the fall after their dormant season.

Mrs. Bernard Savey, near Lockbourne, has a driveway bordered with flowering crabapple. Mrs. Savey has Eremurus or desert candle blooming in profusion in late May. This is a rare plant but hers seeds itself. She is saving a seedling for me.

Mrs. Paul Congrove has this plant, too. It is not seen in many local gardens. It is a stately and beautiful plant.

Mrs. Raymond Moats, Route 4, received word from Kingwood Center that the tulips had bloomed and were already past their prime. The Kingwood office suggested that she wait until after May 27 to visit. At this time iris will be ready to give a welcome.

Pickaway Flower Show To Include Paintings by Members of Art League

The Pickaway County Garden Club will present its annual spring flower show on June 8 in the Eagles Lodge Hall at 135 E. Main St.

The public is invited to exhibit in artistic classes as well as in the horticultural division. However, exhibitors must make reservations in all artistic classes. Call reservations into Mrs. David Craven before 11 a. m. June 7. Her number is GR 4-2562.

All exhibit must be in place by 11:30 a. m. June 8.

Visiting hours will be from 5:30 to 8:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend the show. A tea will be held in connection with the event.

THE FLOWER show theme is "News in Flowers and Art." There will be an Art Section in which all four artistic arrangement classes will be interpretations of paintings. Pictures, provided by the local Art League will be on display along with the interpretative arrangement.

Co-chairmen of the flower show are Mrs. Ned Harden and Mrs. Theodore Huston. There will be Junior and Teen Sections, with one class each.

The horticultural section will feature roses. There will be eight rose classes and eight classes for other spring flowers.

The houseplant division will have 12 classes.

General rules are:

1. Only one entry will be allowed each exhibitor in each class.

2. Judging will be according to the Handbook of Flower Shows of National Council.

3. Ribbons will be awarded in all classes. (a.) A Tri-Color ribbon and an Award of Distinction will be given in the Artistic Division; (b.) an Award of Merit will be given in the Horticulture Division; (c.) a Junior Achievement Award will be given in the Junior Section.

Rules for the artistic division are:

1. Niches will be used in all classes except No. 1, which is to be staged on a card table. Please note the height of the niche in each class and make the height of each arrangement in proper proportion to the height of its niche. The height or large niches is 38"; small niches, 26".

2. No artificial plant material will be permitted.

3. Accessories and foreign materials will be permitted in any class.

4. No conservation material will be permitted unless grown on exhibitor's own land and accompanied by a card stating this.

5. Greenhouse flowers will be permitted in all arrangement classes.

6. No painted material permitted except in free form or abstract arrangements.

7. Freshly-cut plant materials or dried or treated plant materials are required for each class.

8. Paintings may be viewed at home of Mrs. Ned Harden, 146 Park Place.

Rules for the horticultural division are:

1. Specimen flowers must be grown by the exhibitor.

2. The specimen flower must be properly labeled as to species.

3. Containers will be furnished.

Rules for the houseplant division are:

1. Only clean, healthy plants will be accepted.

2. Plants must have been in exhibitor's possession at least 90 days.

The complete schedule of classes follows:

Artistic Division — 1. "The Front Page" — free form; to be viewed from all sides; to be staged on a card table; furnish your own cover;

2. "Foreign Affairs" — design to suggest a foreign country. Name your country. Niche size: 39x26x13;

3. "Weather — Hurricane Hilda" — design denoting motion. Niche size: 38x26x13;

4. "Sporting Greens" — use three kinds of fresh foliage. Niche size: 26x17x10;

WILD FLOWER MAN — Merle Sharp, Pickaway County farmer, prefers wildlings to cultivated flowers. There's room in his spacious yard for colonies of bluebells, larkspur, blue eyed Mary, violets and all the other Ohio wild flowers. Even lady slippers find a sanctuary here. Several of the wild orchids have grown happily to the north of the house for many years. Sharp is pictured leaning against the fence that surrounds his yard. Beautiful rolling countryside is in the distance.

Wildlings at Sharp Home Find Pleasant Sanctuary

Turn south at Logan Elm park and look for a sign that reads, "Sharp Turn" and that's the way visitors get to the 93-year-old Sharp farmhouse which almost a quarter of a mile from the main road.

The Sharp farm encompasses some 220 acres. A great grandfather settled in the community in 1803 and built a log cabin.

Merle Sharp who lives here with his brother, Sam, rounded the corner of white frame house with the green shutters. He ended to the garden editor a genuine and courtly welcome. He pointed out the Village of Angston in the distance and the little hills near Chillicothe to the south.

At the Sharp farm one sees a rustic Ohio at its tranquil best. Fertile, green fields in the wooded banks of Congo Creek make this a quiet beauty spot.

Merle Sharp is not interested in cultivated flowers, he loves the wildlings. And it is apparent that wild flowers are the shady home he proposes for them. The tall trees which make up the grove surrounding the house evidently like the wildlings feel perfectly at home.

The bluebells which grow in fusion in one woody area are past their prime, but the blue-eyed Mary was at its loveliest. This is the modest true blue and white flower that blooms at tulip time and reads itself. It is a pleasing sight when grown in masses.

The flowers were not planted in a garden exactly, but here and there along the fences and side the house. Wherever they are planted they like it — just as the birds like the Sharp farm home and nest near the house as well as in the woods and old orchard.

Violets and larkspur were in bloom. There was Jacob's ladder and wild columbine and fragrant spice bush. To the north of one wing of the house ferns and lady slippers were blooming. The yellow lady slipper was at its peak, the pink beginning to show color. A little white lady slipper brought years ago from Ohio's Blue Hole was in blossom. The small flowers were perfect in form.

Merle Sharp has a beautiful planting of valley lilies at the foundation of his house. And these seemed quite in company with the wild flowers.

The trees at the Sharp home are huge and beautiful and varied. Marvelous old maples were in full leaf. There was a buckeye in blossom and the stately tulip tree was about to show bloom. A tall beech grows near the driveway.

BUT THERE are newly planted trees, too. The red Japanese maple is still a small tree without much age. The gum tree has not attained full stature and the mountain ash was planted only this spring.

Merle Sharp has pruned the branches of the new mountain ash. He said that his cousin, Donald McBeth, who has considerable horticultural knowledge, suggested that he prune it. Sam Sharp who shares the family home with his brother is in Dayton Veteran's Hospital for treatment of a back ailment. Until his death Frank Sharp, another brother, lived here, too. He shared with Merle an enthusiasm for nature. He also helped with the Indian relic collection which was started when they were boys.

The relics are carefully and beautifully displayed in cabinets in the house. The heavier ones, however, encircle a big tree in the front yard. Around this tree are fossils and interesting rocks and stone Indian tools like a corn pounder and animal Skinner. The housekeeper, Sarah Bryant, calls this the "rock tree" and the other giant maple, the "swing tree." She does the gardening and the housekeeping and has charge of the kitchen department.

Merle Sharp remembers some of the big trees when they were saplings. The tall beech for instance has been through many vicissitudes. When it was cased a visitor took out his pocket knife and was about to convert it into a walking stick for himself.

AN AUTOMOBILE driver backed into the beech one time and seriously injured it. Now there is only a dim scar to show.

Merle Sharp has many an amusing thing to tell about the birds nesting in the yard. Last year an indigo bunting built a nest and laid eggs in it. Another bird came along and laid a big egg in the same nest. The indigo bunting abandoned the whole project.

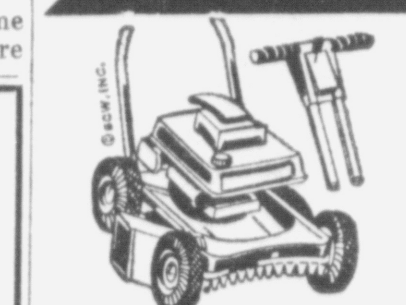

Mr. Sharp said he hoped a train would come along while I was there. And sure enough in a few minutes, in the distance and beyond the sound of it whistle and noise, a train, looking precisely like a toy, crawled slowly towards it destination. We estimated there were some 200 freight cars.

Mr. Sharp mows the large grass area, no small task, himself. A Jack-in-the-pulpit suddenly made its appearance in the yard one year. He carefully mows around it. He has figured it is 10 feet from the base of a tree. And he's on the look-out for it when he mows.

The house boasts some rare and beautiful antiques as well as Indian relics. It is frame but as sturdy as the day it was built. And a more beautiful stairway can't be found. The kitchen is pleasant and modern.

A visit to the Sharp farm is an experience. There you will find a reverence and love for the old ways. The house has been loved and lived in by succeeding generations. And yet there's the feeling that the place and its occupants are stepping right along with time.

It's a nice blend — a love for the old and an acceptance of the new.

Garden Gossip

News of the week is that Mrs. Emmitt Barnhart has received and set up her misting bubble. This is a plastic bubble enclosing a misting nozzle which sprays a fine mist over the cuttings within. Some easy-to-grow cuttings will have roots within a few days.

It was the opinion of everybody who attended the Pickaway County Garden Club's tour of gardens that it ought to happen every year.

The pink dogwood at the home of the Merle Collins was a sight of considerable beauty last week. Dogwood blossoms seem to last longer than either the Japanese cherry or the flowering crab.

We were disappointed this year to find that the volunteer pink dogwood which we discovered last spring in a tulip tree planting was scarcely pink at this year.

We also went by to see the pink buckeye tree in bloom at Kearns' Rest Home on N. Court St. This, too, was only vaguely pink this year. Its color was scarcely noticeable. Last year it was a lovely sight.

When I returned from St. Louis, my Paul's Scarlet Hawthorne was in full bloom. Generally a bright red like bleeding heart the hawthorn this year was just a dark pink.

Railroad tracks are a great place for wild flowers. In some spots along the B & O the tracks were carpeted in dark purple — it was wild larkspur blooming. In another place the spiderswort was in blossom. This, too, is a dark blue violet.

At the Southern Ohio Judges Council meeting Tuesday there was a report concerning tulips that were red one year and yellow the next. The same person told of a planting of red and white tulips that were striped the second year.

Mrs. Reginald Blue, Chillicothe, who addressed the judges on "Point Scoring Tulips" had some pink tulips that had flourished in a certain location near her farm home for a good 10 years. The same time she planted these she planted the same sort of tulip bulbs, in another location, which had long since disappeared entirely.

Experts now favor de-branching delphinium. For some years exhibitors were told not to remove the side branches from a delphinium spike. Mrs. John Butler, new regional vice president for the Columbus Region Garden Club of Ohio, says that now days judges award the ribbon to the best grown spike with or without side branches.

My trip to the woods revealed that my red buckeye is still thriving. This is a volunteer, too, like the pink dogwood. Most of the volunteers are multiflora rose plants. Conservation or no conservation, we will rue the day that we ever planted multiflora rose hedges in this county.

Ann Shea, 494, E. Main St., called to say she had tulips that were almost black. There are indeed tulips that are almost black. Queen of the Night is such a variety and in my estimation is the nearest thing in existence to a black flower.

Phil Everett, Route 1, Laurelville, is finding out that a double row of iris is one row to many to keep weeded.

Mrs. Ben Gordon's orange poppy is blooming again in great profusion. The Gordons live on Northridge Road.

Another family that has a splendid planting of orange Or-

Annuals Fill Gardening Needs Well

In beds, pots or flower boxes, annual plants add splashes of brilliant color to outdoor living areas, lawns, porches and walks.

Their great value for garden living lies in their summer bloom and bright colors which add a feeling of summer gaiety, or "life at its best."

The pelargoniums (geraniums) blooming from spring to frost; the lantanas, marigolds, candytuft, delphiniums, poppies, petunias, verbena, salvia and zinnias, to name only a few, can be purchased by the dozen, or as small plants by the "flat" or box, containing up to 50 plants or more.

By setting out the small plants instead of planting seed, entials is the Willard Speakman family, Route 4. They have poppies and orchid sweet rocket blooming together. Curiously enough this is a stunning and beautiful combination.

Wilbur Pontius had a glorious poppy patch last year. When bloom time is over he just mows over the plants as though they were grass. They come up every year, too. The Pontius family lives at Route 1, Kings-ton.

We wonder if it would be possible to start a roadside planting of orange Orientals! The orange daylilies that brighten the roadways in July were once garden flowers.

Miss Mary Shortridge, Route 2, had a most difficult time getting Oriental poppies started in her garden. A neighbor declared she'd bring poppies that would grow. And she did. Mary says she's digging them out now so they won't crowd other flowers.

the home owner get blooms four weeks or more earlier in the season. Plants like geraniums, ageratum, heliotrope, verbena, etc., customarily are available in pots in bud and bloom thus immediately changing a bare bed or flower box to a mass of color.

and beautiful color contrasts of the flowers.

Local merchants have a fine selection of annuals. Many of the plants are already blooming and will continue to do so until after autumn frosts. By Decoration Day the choice will be more limited.

New Officers Installed at Lions Meeting

The Circleville Lions Club met Tuesday at the Mecca Restaurant for installation of officers and induction of new members.

Forrest Thomerson, owner of the local Moore's Store, was installed as president. Other officers include W. E. Reichelderfer, first vice president; Nolan Sims, second vice president; Charles Wellman, third vice president; Clarence Radcliffe, secretary; Wesley Edstrom Sr. treasurer; Lowell Ferguson, lion tamer; Garold Crites, tail twister; Richard Wilson, chaplain; Charles Curlett, Robert Chapman, William Speakman, and Phil Everett, directors.

Mrs. Charles Curlett, was installed as president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Lowell Ferguson, vice president, Mrs. Robert Dick, secretary and Mrs. Doyle Spangler, treasurer.

The five new members inducted were Fred Howell, Paul Langland, Richard Robson Jr., James Krinn and Leslie Hines. The following honors were presented: Phil Everett, governor's award, Charles Wellman, first Key Award; Clarence Radcliffe and R. E. Nau, Advanced Key Awards. The Lion of the Year Award given for outstanding service to Lionism was presented to Clarence Radcliffe.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Crain, Sacramento, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Morris of Circleville.

Jack Jacobs, Thornville and Larry Holtsberry of Hebron installed officers and new members.

The speaker was Larry McCarthy of Newark. A consulting geophysicist, he spoke on the advantages of locating and producing oil in Ohio and particularly in Pickaway County. He stated that 30,000 acres were under lease here and elaborated on methods of operation.

Paricutin, a volcano about 200 miles west of Mexico City, first appeared in a cornfield in February 1943. Within six days it was 500 feet high and by 1961 it had risen 2,120 feet.

Mounted Police. It showed various phases of the nine months training undertaken by prospective members and varied duties after graduation. Pictured were dog sled patrols in the far north, water patrols, highway patrol and plain clothes work.

Miss Domitile Rujano of Venezuela will be a guest at the next meeting. She is visiting here as an exchange student with Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Poling of near Circleville.

The Circleville Kiwanis Club announced its annual Charity Horse Show May 29-30. Ashville members may purchase ticket from Benis Lutz.

Mrs. Donald Thompson underwent surgery in University Hospital Friday. She is in room 689.

Plans for the annual Ashville-Harrison Alumni banquet are being made. Officers of the organization are: Harold Hartley, president; Tom Bausum, vice president; Mona Graham Trego and Marty Dore, secretaries; Liz Sark Herdman, treasurer. The event will be held in the Ashville Elementary School Auditorium June 19.

Fifteen members of Girl Scout Troop 238 and leader Mrs. Jerry Trego, assisted by Bonnie Peters, enjoyed a bicycle hike Friday evening after school. The group cycled to the Don Collins golf course for a picnic.

The Ashville Junior High honor banquet will be held in the school auditorium 6:30 p.m. Friday. A carry-in dinner will be served. Each family is asked to bring a basket that includes a meat dish and table service. Rolls and beverage will be furnished.

Sonia Seymour is substituting for Peg Trimble in the Ashville School cafeteria this week. Mrs. Trimble is under the care of a doctor and will remain in bed for a few days.

Communist China's Big Problem: Develop Technology All by Itself

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second of two dispatches by a Canadian reporter who visited 11 industrial establishments in China. The first story described three plants he judged to be good, and four that seemed indifferent. Today he tells of four he considered bad. The writer is the chief of news services for the Southam Newspapers of Canada.

By CHARLES LYNCH

PEKING (AP) — The shortcomings of much of the new industry of China are too apparent to be concealed, and little effort is made here to conceal them, or to pretend that things are going better than they are.

Much of the industry, especially the heavy stuff, dates back less than 16 years, and was built on an economy that was bankrupt or ruined.

Another factor is that the industry of Red China owes as much to the Soviet Union as the industry of today's Canada owes to the United States. The effect of the Soviet withdrawal in the late 1950s was just as numbing as it would be for U.S. capital and technology to pull abruptly out of Canada.

The numbness still is there, though the proud Chinese try to conceal it and to convince themselves that native genius can prevail over the lack of contact with the industrial world outside.

Lacking access to the global treasure chest of 20th century technology, China has been trying to evolve her own, on the theory that if the workers put their heads together, they can come up with answers.

In many cases the answers inevitably are negative. This can be said without casting any slur on the Chinese engineers or workers who were charged with the impossible task of crowding 100 years of technological development into a decade, and who lost their teachers in the midst of the tooling-up process.

Among plants I have seen, the negative results were most apparent at an automobile factory in Changchun, a railway car factory in the same city, heavy machinery factory in Shenyang, and the electrical machinery plant in Harbin.

The No. 1 automobile factory in Changchun probably is the most photographed plant in China — it was built with photography in mind, as a symbol of industry as industry should look.

The first flaw is that the factory doesn't produce automobiles. Several years ago, it turned out limousines by a process of hand assembly. These were christened "Red Flag" and are used to this day by government dignitaries and on state occasions.

The part of the factory where the Red Flag was made is closed down — for expansion, it is explained. My interest in this incongruous vehicle — it is hard to imagine a car that China needs less — was such that they wheeled one around for me to ride in. It had been assembled in 1958.

I was driven to this factory, as I have been driven everywhere I have been, in a little Polish-made sedan — sometimes it is Soviet-made — and I asked why the factory had not gone in for this practical type of vehicles. I received no more satisfactory answer than that such decisions are made by the state, and not to be questioned at factory level. Besides, they said somewhat defensively, they were experimenting along those lines.

What they are actually producing, and in limited numbers, is the same truck the factory was tooled up to produce nine years ago. This "Liberation" truck is khaki for the army, or green for limited use in the civilian economy. It looks like a North American truck of immediate postwar vintage, and comes in a basic four-ton model, which can be made into an eight-ton version by tacking on a trailer.

The motor is a six-cylinder, 95-horsepower, L-head job, burning low-grade gasoline.

The factory uses 23,000 workers to produce this truck, and claims to turn out 50 per eight-hour shift. At two shifts a day they made 30,000 trucks a year — a drop in the bucket in relation to China's need for work vehicles.

When American author Edgar Snow visited the plant in 1960, he was told that management aimed to increase output to 150,000 in 1961-62. But production remains right where it was in 1960. The plant is doing exactly what the Russians designed and built it to do — no more, no less.

On the road outside the plant the traffic consists largely of aging rickshaw-pullers, bending to their loads. Not only are cars a rarity in China, but trucks are too — and the reason can be found at the Changchun factory.

The assembly line is a production engineer's nightmare.

Gear boxes come off faster than engines. Wheels come along in vast profusion and have to be kept circling like jets over an airport on a foggy day. At some points, the assembly line stops altogether. At no point does it move more than three feet a minute.

In 1956, 81 per cent of the materials in the truck were imported, largely from the Soviet Union. Now, the content is 100 per cent Chinese — but the truck is the same.

The Changchun railway carriage factory, with 4,300 workers, was designed to turn out 1,600 passenger cars a year. Today, the production is less than one car a day, and it is clear that this attractive plant opened six years ago has been backsliding.

Morale according to the management, is high — and there are plans to treble the work force. But those plans, like everything else in this factory, date back to 1959.

At the Shenyang heavy machinery factory, the methods being followed seemed slipshod in the extreme, both in the foundry and in the pressing and machining ends of the business. Again, it was a case of workers going through the motions.

More than 100 big machines, including hydraulic presses of up to 6,000 tons capacity, are said to be produced yearly. They must do it in sudden spurts.

The picture was only slightly better at the Harbin electric machinery factory, where they make hydraulic power generators, hydraulic turbines, and steam generators for both alternating and direct current.

This, too, is a low-volume operation. Production began in 1952 with generators of 800 kilowatts capacity, and now they are up to generators of 100,000 kilowatts capacity. Generators have been exported to Korea, North Viet Nam and Albania.

Some of the heavy machinery is Russian, some British.

This is a highly specialized industry, and it might be sad, in view of China's limited experience in the field, that the miracle is that it is being done at all. But with the tools at hand, and with China's crying need for power, and with Chinese ingenuity manifest as it is in other directions, the factory cannot be said to be pulling its weight.

response to the invitation to criticize, which was put to me at every factory I visited.

One is left to wonder, in an economy that is entirely state-run, how many of the facts find their way back to the administration level in Peking, where the accounts are kept and the big decisions — and most of the small ones — are made.

Of course there may be a missing part in the puzzle of Chinese industry. Somewhere, in unseen defense establishments, Chinese industrial genius may be blossoming — but I doubt it.

WISTERIA YEAR — Mrs. Joe Barnes obligingly poses with the blooming wisteria at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson, 322 S. Pickaway St. The vine has climbed to the roof of the second story and last week was dripping with 15 inch racemes of lavender wisteria. While Mrs. Barnes was having her picture taken, several passers-by stopped to see the beautiful sight. Mrs. Barnes, allergic to bee stings, took a dim view of all the buzzing that was going on.

Planting Can Be Done Most Any Time, Nurserymen Say

Ever walk around your property in summer and observe the need for additional shrubs and trees, yet think it's out of season to plant?

If you do, forget it and go right ahead and plant them, says the American Assn. of Nurserymen. Seasonal planting of many seeds is necessary, but most trees and shrubs can be planted anytime.

The reason is that nurserymen now grow a large number of shrubs and trees in individual containers so they can be set out without disturbing their roots or growth. Anytime can be a favorable time. So plant when you have the urge.

Suppose you want a rose garden, and it's June or later? During these months one can go to a nursery, usually see roses in bloom and take the plants home and set out a few in a whole rose garden as preferred.

THE SAME thing can be done with evergreens in foundation plantings or elsewhere on the property.

Suppose you get a sudden hot spell of weather in summer and you dream of a cool shade tree? Why not plant it, then; and have a permanent outdoor umbrella, with nature storing it in winter for you when it sheds its leaves, only to open up again with air-conditioning foliage when you need it most.

Trees, by what is known as transpiration, or vaporization of moisture from the leaves, actually cool the air.

Heat speeds the process of transpiration on hot days thus providing greater cooling action when you need it most.

This is Mother Nature's way of keeping animal life more comfortable. Either large or small shade trees can be set out.

Whenever you feel that need to plant, regardless of the season, just go right ahead and do it. So many advances in planting have been made by the nursery industry that summer planting not only is successful, but is growing greatly in volume.

Today complete landscaping also is done right through the summer months, with success guaranteed.

Garden Gossip

Oriental poppies do not transplant well in the spring. Transplant them in the fall after their dormant season.

Mrs. Bernard Savey, near Lockbourne, has a driveway bordered with flowering crabapple. Mrs. Savey has Eremurus or desert candle blooming in profusion in late May. This is a rare plant but hers seeds itself. She is saving a seedling for me.

Mrs. Paul Congrove has this plant, too. It is not seen in many local gardens. It is a stately and beautiful plant.

Mrs. Raymond Moats, Route 4, received word from Kingwood Center that the tulips had bloomed and were already past their prime. The Kingwood office suggested that she wait until after May 27 to visit. At this time iris will be ready to give a welcome.

Pickaway Flower Show To Include Paintings by Members of Art League

The Pickaway County Garden Club will present its annual spring flower show on June 8 in the Eagles Lodge Hall at 135 E. Main St.

The public is invited to exhibit in artistic classes as well as in the horticultural division. However, exhibitors must make reservations in all artistic classes. Call reservations into Mrs. David Craven before 11 a. m. June 7. Her number is GR 4-2562.

All exhibit must be in place by 11:30 a. m. June 8.

Visiting hours will be from 5:30 to 8:30 p. m. The public is invited to attend the show. A tea will be held in connection with the event.

THE FLOWER show theme is "News in Flowers and Art." There will be an Art Section in which all four artistic arrangement classes will be interpretations of paintings. Pictures, provided by the local Art League will be on display along with the interpretative arrangement.

Co-chairmen of the flower show are Mrs. Ned Harden and Mrs. Theodore Huston. There will be Junior and Teen Sections, with one class each.

The horticultural section will feature roses. There will be eight rose classes and eight classes for other spring flowers.

The houseplant division will have 12 classes.

General rules are:
1. Only one entry will be allowed each exhibitor in each class.

2. Judging will be according to the Handbook of Flower Shows of National Council.

3. Ribbons will be awarded in all classes. (a.) A Tri-Color ribbon and an Award of Distinction will be given in the Artistic Division; (b.) an Award of Merit will be given in the Horticulture Division; (c.) a Junior Achievement Award will be given in the Junior Section.

Rules for the artistic division are:

1. Niches will be used in all classes except No. 1, which is to be staged on a card table. Please note the height of the niche in each class and make the height of each arrangement in proper proportion to the height of its niche. The height or large niches is 38"; small niches, 26".

2. No artificial plant material will be permitted.

3. Accessories and foreign materials will be permitted in any class.

4. No conservation material will be permitted unless grown on exhibitor's own land and accompanied by a card stating this.

5. Greenhouse flowers will be permitted in all arrangement classes.

6. No painted material permitted except in free form or abstract arrangements.

7. Freshly-cut plant materials or dried or treated plant materials are required for each class.

8. Paintings may be viewed at home of Mrs. Ned Harden, 146 Park Place.

Rules for the horticultural division are:

1. Specimen flowers must be grown by the exhibitor.

2. The specimen flower must be properly labeled as to species.

3. Containers will be furnished.

Rules for the houseplant division are:

1. Only clean, healthy plants will be accepted.

2. Plants must have been in exhibitor's possession at least 90 days.

The complete schedule of classes follows:

Artistic Division — 1. "The Front Page" — free form; to be viewed from all sides; to be staged on a card table; furnish your own cover;
2. "Foreign Affairs" — design to suggest a foreign country. Name your country. Niche size: 39x26x13;

3. "Weather — Hurricane Hilda" — design denoting motion. Niche size: 38x26x13;

4. "Sporting Greens" — use three kinds of fresh foliage. Niche size: 26x17x10;

5. "Nature Study" — design showing water or using weathered wood. Niche size: 26x17x10; (a) For those who have never won a blue ribbon, (b) For those who have won no more than three blue ribbons.

6. "Try and Stop Me" — abstract.

tract. Niche size: 38x26x13.

7. "Dear Abby" — a line design. Niche size: 38x26x13;

8. "Mrs. Elizabeth Jones' Garden Page" — using freshly-cut plant material. Niche size: 26x17x10;

9. "The Art Section" — interpret a painting furnished by the Art League. Painting will be displayed with your arrangement. (a.) Your choice of painting; (b.) Painting selected by committee; (c.) Painting selected by committee; (d.) Painting selected by committee; Paintings may be viewed at home of Mrs. Ned Harden, 146 Park Place.

Fairly Clouts Homer To Win For Dodgers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ron Fairly, a clean-up hitter by default, is beginning to look like a natural for the role.

The young Los Angeles Dodgers veteran, who inherited the No. 4 spot in a lightweight batting order when Tommy Davis fractured an ankle three weeks ago, broke up a 14-inning duel at Houston Wednesday night with his fourth hit, a two-run homer that gave the National League leaders a 4-2 victory over the Astros.

Fairly drove in the first Dodger run with a single and scored the tying run in the eighth while lifting his batting average 17 points to .289 and taking the club RBI lead with 18.

The 26-year-old outfielder-first baseman, a semi-regular at Los Angeles for five full seasons, followed Willie Davis' two-out single in the 14th with a shot into the Astrodome's right-field seats off reliever Ken MacKenzie.

Don Drysdale then made his first relief appearance of the year to end a Houston threat in the bottom of the inning and keep the Dodgers 3½ games up on Cincinnati in the young National League race.

The Reds beat Pittsburgh 3-1 on eighth-inning homers by Deron Johnson and Don Pavletich Milwaukee downed the New York Mets 7-5 behind a 15-hit attack led by Joe Torre and St. Louis rallied for two runs in the ninth to nip Philadelphia 7-6 in NL night action.

Ernie Banks' two-run single carried the Chicago Cubs and right-hander Bob Buhl to a 2-1 nod over San Francisco in the only afternoon game.

In the American League, Kansas City snapped the Chicago White Sox' nine-game winning streak 7-3, Cleveland edged Baltimore 2-0, Boston defeated the New York Yankees 3-0, Detroit blanked Washington 4-0 and Minnesota swept a two-night doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels, 3-1 in 12 innings, and 3-1 in nine.

Fairly, who had ended Astro pitcher Ken Johnson's no-hit bid the previous night with a seventh-inning double, capped Wednesday night's Los Angeles comeback with his fifth home run. He had doubled in the eighth and scored the tying run on Lou Johnson's single, which kayoed Astro starter Dave Giusti.

Drysdale replaced winning pitcher John Purdin in the 14th with two on and struck out Joe Morgan to end the marathon.

Aging Dick Tiger Favored in Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Nigeria's aging Dick Tiger is a 12-5 favorite to whip Rubin Carter in a 10-round battle of middleweight contenders at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The 35-year-old Nigerian and the 28-year-old slugger from Paterson, N.J., do have a couple of things in common. Both lost in close title fights to middleweight champion Joe Giardello and the two are burning to get another shot at the reluctant 160-pound ruler.

The winner may get a crack at pal Joey if former champion Sugar Ray Robinson or No. 1 contender Joe Archer don't get the chance first.

Catcher Hits Homer, Wins For Redlegs

CINCINNATI (AP) — The man who couldn't punt gave the Cincinnati Reds a 3-1 victory over the downtrodden Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday night.

Catcher Don Pavletich was that man. Here's what happened:

Trailing 1-0 and his team held to one hit through seven innings by southpaw Joe Gibbon, Daron Johnson opened Cincinnati's eighth with his sixth homer of the season, a drive over the right center field fence.

Tony Perez snapped out of a slump and got his first single in 15 times at bat. Pavletich fouled off two pitches trying to punt Perez to second. Then he stepped into a three-two pitch and drove it over the left field screen. It was his fourth round-tripper this year.

It was an unhappy ending for the luckless Gibbon, who has not finished any of the seven games he has started, nor has he won one. It also was Pittsburgh's 21st defeat in the last 25 games.

For the Reds it broke a two-game losing streak.

Gibbon outpitched Jim Maloney, who started for the Reds and was touched for five hits and Pittsburgh's only run.

Maloney gave way to young Billy McCool after completing seven innings because of a tightened shoulder, a not uncommon occurrence for him. McCool was the winning pitcher for a second time this year.

Congressmen Ask for 3 Big Leagues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six congressmen, two each from New York, Texas and Wisconsin, have proposed that four major cities be granted major league franchises and that baseball be reorganized into three eight-team leagues.

The request came Wednesday in the form of a letter to Commissioner Ford C. Frick, National League President Warren Giles, American League President Joe Cronin and the 20 big league owners.

Signing the letters were Reps. Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y.; Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y.; Earle Cabell, D-Tex.; James C. Wright, D-Tex.; Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and Clement Zablocki, D-Wis.

They suggested the granting of franchises to Buffalo, Dallas-Fort Worth, Milwaukee and a fourth city ready to qualify. The teams would be organized in time for the 1966 season and be distributed among three eight-team leagues.

In New York, Frick said he had received the letter, but would not comment until he had answered it.

Buffalo has an International League franchise. Dallas-Fort Worth plays in the Texas League. The Milwaukee Braves of the National League will move to Atlanta for the 1966 season, leaving Milwaukee without a team.

2 County Tracksters In Regional Meet

Westfall's Dick Cook and Logan Elm's Glenn Forrest will participate in the regional Class A track meet at Upper Arlington Saturday.

Cook will compete for the Mustangs in the 440-yard dash. Forrest will be the Braves' representative in the 220-yard dash.

The tentative dates of July 3-17 and Aug. 24-Sept. 6 for a 25-day split meeting.

Scioto Valley Conference All-Star Banquet Is Held

The third annual Scioto Valley Conference All-Star Banquet was conducted Tuesday night at the Lake White Club, Waverly.

Members of the All-Conference athletic squads as well as the championship teams in each sport were honored guests.

Recognition of All-Star athletes was by Sam Spaulding, editor of the Waverly News and Watchman. Football stars from Westfall included Steve Neff and Tom Hamman. Hamman was the lineman of the year in the SVC.

Logan Elm gridders honored included Brent Rhoads, who made first team on the All-District squad as well as in the Conference. He also was accorded high honors on the All-State team at center.

Dr. Sanguily Speaker for CHS Banquet

Dr. Manuel Sanguily will be the principal speaker tonight at the Circleville High School spring sports banquet at the 4-H and Grange building.

The banquet, which honors members of the baseball, track and golf squads, is scheduled to begin at 6:30 p. m., according to CHS faculty manager Paul Sarchet.

The event will be a carry-in style fete. Persons attending are requested to bring their own table service.

The Most Valuable Player awards in each of the three sports will be presented by the Circleville Booster Club during the evening.

Tribe Battery Uses Fakery, Trips Orioles

CLEVELAND (AP) — While the rest of the Cleveland Indians wait for something to happen, Sam McDowell and Joe Azcue play deception.

Azcue gives the sign. McDowell brushes it off. Azcue gives another sign. McDowell brushes it off again. The object is to throw a hitter off stride.

The tactic has been used successfully. But McDowell said he and Azcue were faking Wednesday night in a 2-0 win over the Baltimore Orioles.

"I changed very few signs," said McDowell. "I pretended I was changing signals just to throw off the hitter. Then I would come back with the same pitch Joe called for." It worked. The Orioles got three hits off the tall lefty—all singles. Jerry Adair collected two and Luis Aparicio the other. Sam, the American League's strikeout leader with 60, fanned 10. He struck out the side in the ninth inning.

McDowell now has struck out 10 or more batters in four games. He did it mostly with curves Wednesday night.

"It was the first time my curve ball was working for me this season," he said. "The fast ball was alive, too, and moving around a lot. I was throwing a lot of fast balls."

Regret was the only filly to win the Kentucky Derby. She won in 1915.

Others Were Neil Wolfe, Jeff Lutz, Mike Temple, Gary Black, Louie Jordan, Bill Huffman, Bob Stand, Rick Rawlins.

Basketball players from the two county schools named to the coaches select unit were Steve Neff and Neil Coleman of Westfall and Jeff Lutz and Rick Shaw of Logan Elm.

Local track stars included Louie Jordan, Jack Hatz, Glenn Forrest, Jim Moorehead, Eddie Baker and Bill Huffman from Logan Elm and Dick Cook and Gary Sharpe of Westfall.

Keith Merrin, SVC basketball coach of the year, and Jeff Lutz, honorary captain of the All-Star basketball team came in for special honors.

Vikings Trip Falcons, 5-3

Teays Valley defeated Franklin Heights, 5-3, last night in a South Suburban League game on the Falcon's diamond.

It was the first win against the host school in three starts for the Vikings. Losses to the Falcons were in a league game and in a Central District tournament tilt.

Dave Cook was the winning hurler. Going the distance, he limited the Falcons to three hits. He fanned three and walked two.

Cook, in addition to turning in a stellar mound performance for Teays Valley, blasted a double with two men on base in the fifth to score two runs that put the Vikings ahead.

In the final frame, Mitch Clay doubled with one runner on base, to drive in an insurance run for Cook.

All the Franklin Heights markers came during a three-run third inning.

The win left Teays Valley with a 2-3 record in the league and a 7-6 mark overall.

Tonight the Vikings host Carroll.

3 Ohioans Rank High In ABC Tournament

ST. PAUL (AP) — Latest standings in the American Bowling Congress Tournament show three Ohioans in the top five in various events, with Cleveland's Larry Oaker and Bill Beach of Sharon, Pa., holding the classic doubles lead with 1,355.

Oaker is fourth in classic all-events with 2,541, while Henry Skapnick of Akron is fourth in regular singles with 688 and Joe Monastera - Joe Cosentino, Canton, fifth in regular doubles with 1,262.

The 55-day 1965 Hollywood Park meeting marks the thoroughbred track's 26th season.

High School Mile Master Is in Constant Training

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The barefoot youngster in gym shorts walked like a tenderfoot, complaining about gravel as he headed for a tool shed to talk.

The same fete which carried Jim Ryun to a 3:58.3 mile, fastest ever by a school boy, were not quite tough enough for the small rocks in a cement walk outside the field house at East High.

"I tried to be on the pace all the way," the lanky 18-year-old high school senior said of last Saturday performance in the Kansas high school track meet. "I was a little off on the second and third laps but I picked up on the last one."

The national high school mark of 4:06 was set last year by Gary Lindgren of Spokane, Wash. Ryun's time must be certified by the National High School Activities Association, which meets this summer.

Ryun says he doesn't have much time for dates. He attends services at a Church of Christ here three times a week.

The 6-foot, 1-inch youth plans to run in three invitational meets in California in the next month — at Modesto, Compton, and the Golden West meet at Sacramento.

"It would be nice to go to Russia for the United States-Russian dual," he said, "but you have to place in the top two spots in the National AAU to get that trip. I don't know whether I can do that."

Ryun admitted that constant training gets to be a grind in winter months, but snow and ice don't stop his morning workouts.

"In the spring and summer I'm running in competition, and I get to travel," he said. "Then I know it's worthwhile."

His school classes includes physics, psychology and drafting. He hasn't thought much about the future, but said "I might study engineering or for a coaching career. I don't know yet."

Homer Assures Buffalo Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Duke Carmel hit his first home run of the season Wednesday night with two men on that gave Buffalo a 4-1 victory over Syracuse. It was his first hit of the series.

The Bisons have won only 10 of their 35 International League games.

Elsewhere, Toledo walloped league-leading Atlanta 9-3, Columbus defeated Jacksonville 6-2 and Toronto whipped Rochester 8-1.

Toledo pounced on two Atlanta pitchers for six runs in the second inning and then added three in the sixth as the Mud Hens collected 15 hits from five Atlanta pitchers.

Toledo Boxer Set To Resume Action

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure, Toledo middleweight out of action since last September because of a hand injury, resumes boxing tonight with a 10-rounder against Clarence (Jet) Alford at the Lucas County Recreation Center.

McClure, a 1960 Olympic champion whose pro record is 16-3, lost to Jose Torres, light heavyweight champion, in his last outing.

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — YU 3-5731

Guests at a May meeting of the Ashville Kiwanis Club were Charles Hart, Winship Story, Dr. Robert Liggett and Eugene Wilson of the Circleville Club. William Glitt of the Prudential Insurance Co. was a guest of Charles Morrison.

Gene Tosca, program chairman, presented an interesting film on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. It showed various phases of the nine months training undertaken by prospective members and varied duties after graduation. Pictured were dog sled patrols in the far north, water patrols, highway patrol and plain clothes work.

Miss Domitile Rujano of Venezuela will be a guest at the next meeting. She is visiting here as an exchange student with Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Poling of near Circleville.

The Circleville Kiwanis Club announced its annual Charity Horse Show May 29-30. Ashville members may purchase ticket from Benis Lutz.

Mrs. Donald Thompson underwent surgery in University Hospital Friday. She is in room 689.

Plans for the annual Ashville-Harrison Alumni banquet are being made. Officers of the organization are: Harold Hartley, president; Tom Baasum, vice president; Mona Graham Trego and Marty Dore, secretaries; Liz Sark Herdman, treasurer. The event will be held in the Ashville Elementary School Auditorium June 19.

Fifteen members of Girl Scout Troop 238 and leader Mrs. Jerry Trego, assisted by Bonnie Peters, enjoyed a bicycle hike Friday evening after school. The group cycled to the Don Collins golf course for a picnic.

The Ashville Junior High honor banquet will be held in the school auditorium 6:30 p.m. Friday. A carry-in dinner will be served. Each family is asked to bring a basket that includes a meat dish and table service. Rolls and beverage will be furnished.

Sonia Seymour is substituting for Peg Trimble in the Ashville School cafeteria this week. Mrs. Trimble is under the care of a doctor and will remain in bed for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wippel are parents of a son born Tuesday in Riverside Hospital, Columbus.

The Harrison Twp. Volunteer Fire Department made the following runs: May 11 — Plane-view Trailer Court, smoke scare; May 14 — Truck fire at Dr. C. W. Cromley farm, $1500 damage to truck and $1,400 to painting equipment; Center and Cherry Alleys, broken gas main as result of auto collision, $50 damage to gas main; May 16 — a call to the house owned by Mrs. George Cron and occupied by Forbes Rohrer at Fox Post Office where lightning entered home on ground wire. $50 loss to hot water tank; electric pole on Road 508 at Little Walnut, $100 loss.

Dewey Donaldson, owner of Donaldson's Restaurant, was returned to his home Monday from Mercy Hospital where he was a patient for a week.

New Officers Installed at Lions Meeting

The Circleville Lions Club met Tuesday at the Mecca Restaurant for installation of officers and induction of new members.

Forrest Thomerson, owner of the local Moore's Store, was installed as president. Other officers include W. E. Reichelderfer, first vice president; Nolan Sims, second vice president; Charles Wellman, third vice president; Clarence Radcliffe, secretary; Wesley Edstrom Sr. treasurer; Lowell Ferguson, lion tamer; Harold Crites, tall twister; Richard Wilson, chaplain; Charles Curlett, Robert Chapman, William Speakman, and Phil Everett, directors.

Mrs. Charles Curlett, was installed as president of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Lowell Ferguson, vice president, Mrs. Robert Dick, secretary and Mrs. Doyle Spangler, treasurer.

The five new members inducted were Fred Howell, Paul Langland, Richard Robson Jr., James Krinn and Leslie Hines. The following honors were presented: Phil Everett, governor's award, Charles Wellman, first Key Award; Clarence Radcliffe and R. E. Nau, Advanced Key Awards. The Lion of the Year Award given for outstanding service to Lionism was presented to Clarence Radcliffe.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Crain, Sacramento, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Morris of Circleville.

Jack Jacobs, Thornville and Larry Holtsberry of Hebron installed officers and new members.

The speaker was Larry McCarthy of Newark. A consulting geophysicist, he spoke on the advantages of locating and producing oil in Ohio and particularly in Pickaway County. He stated that 30,000 acres were under lease here and elaborated on methods of operation.

Paricutin, a volcano about 200 miles west of Mexico City, first appeared in a cornfield in February 1943. Within six days it was 500 feet high and by 1961 it had risen 2,120 feet.

Communist China's Big Problem: Develop Technology All by Itself

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second of two dispatches by a Canadian reporter who visited 11 industrial establishments in China. The first story described three plants he judged to be good, and four that seemed indifferent. Today he tells of four he considered bad. The writer is the chief of news services for the Southam Newspapers of Canada.

By CHARLES LYNCH

PEKING (AP) — The shortcomings of much of the new industry of China are too apparent to be concealed, and little effort is made here to conceal them, or to pretend that things are going better than they are.

Much of the heavy stuff, dates back less than 16 years, and was built on an economy that was bankrupt or ruined.

Another factor is that the industry of Red China owed as much to the Soviet Union as the industry of today's Canada owed to the United States. The effect of the Soviet withdrawal in the late 1950s was just as numbing as it would be for U.S. capital and technology to pull abruptly out of Canada.

The numbness still is there, though the proud Chinese try to conceal it and to convince themselves that native genius can prevail over the lack of contact with the industrial world outside.

Lacking access to the global treasure chest of 20th century technology, China has been trying to evolve her own, on the theory that if the workers put their heads together, they can come up with answers.

In many cases the answers inevitably are negative. This can be said without casting any slur on the Chinese engineers or workers who were charged with the impossible task of crowding 100 years of technological development into a decade, and who lost their teachers in the midst of the tooling-up process.

Among plants I have seen, the negative results were most apparent at an automobile factory in Changchun, a railway car factory in the same city, heavy machinery factory in Shenyang, and the electrical machinery plant in Harbin. The No. 1 automobile factory in Changchun probably is the most-photographed plant in China — it was built with photography in mind, as a symbol of industry as industry should look. The first flaw is that the factory doesn't produce automobiles. Several years ago, it turned out limousines by a process of hand assembly. These were christened "Red Flag" and are used to this day by government dignitaries and on state occasions.

The part of the factory where the Red Flag was made is closed down — for expansion, it is explained. My interest in this incongruous vehicle — it is hard to imagine a car that China needs less — was such that they wheeled one around for me to ride in. It had been assembled in 1958.

I was driven to this factory, as I have been driven everywhere I have been, in a little Polish-made sedan — sometimes it is Soviet-made — and I asked why the factory had not gone in for this practical type of vehicles. I received no more satisfactory answer than that such decisions are made by the state, and not to be questioned at factory level. Besides, they said somewhat defensively, they were experimenting along those lines.

What they are actually producing, and in limited numbers, is the same truck the factory was tooled up to produce nine years ago. This "Liberation" truck is khaki for the army, or green for limited use in the civilian economy. It looks like a North American truck of immediate postwar vintage, and comes in a basic four-ton model, which can be made into an eight-ton version by tacking on a trailer.

The motor is a six-cylinder, 95-horsepower, L-head job, burning low-grade gasoline.

The factory uses 23,000 workers to produce this truck, and claims to turn out 50 per eight-hour shift. At two shifts a day they made 30,000 trucks a year — a drop in the bucket in relation to China's need for work vehicles.

When American author Edgar Snow visited the plant in 1960, he was told that management aimed to increase output to 150,000 in 1961-62. But production remains right where it was in 1960. The plant is doing exactly what the Russians designed and built it to do — no more, no less.

On the road outside the plant the traffic consists largely of aging rickshaw-pullers, bending to their loads. Not only are cars a rarity in China, but trucks are too — and the reason can be found at the Changchun factory. The assembly line is a production engineer's nightmare.

Gear boxes come off faster than engines. Wheels come along in vast profusion and have to be kept circling like jets over an airport on a foggy day. At some points, the assembly line stops altogether. At no point does it move more than three feet a minute.

In 1956, 81 per cent of the materials in the truck were imported, largely from the Soviet Union. Now, the content is 100 per cent Chinese — but the truck is the same.

The Changchun railway carriage factory, with 4,300 workers, was designed to turn out 1,600 passenger cars a year. Today, the production is less than one car a day, and it is clear that this attractive plant opened six years ago has been backsliding.

Morale according to the management, is high — and there are plans to trouble the work force. But those plans, like everything else in this factory, date back to 1959.

At the Shenyang heavy machinery factory, the methods being followed seemed slipshod in the extreme, both in the foundry and in the pressing and machining ends of the business. Again, it was a case of workers going through the motions.

More than 100 big machines, including hydraulic presses of up to 6,000 tons capacity, are said to be produced yearly. They must do it in sudden spurts.

The picture was only slightly better at the Harbin electric machinery factory, where they make hydraulic power generators, hydraulic turbines, and steam generators for both alternating and direct current.

This, too, is a low-volume operation. Production began in 1952 with generators of 800 kilowatts capacity, and now they are up to generators of 100,000 kilowatts capacity. Generators have been exported to Korea, North Viet Nam and Albania.

Some of the heavy machinery is Russian, some British.

This is a highly specialized industry, and it might be sad, in view of China's limited experience in the field, that the miracle is that it is being done at all. But with the tools at hand, and with China's crying need for power, and with Chinese ingenuity manifest as it is in other directions, the factory cannot be said to be pulling its weight.

All of which is submitted, as objectively as I know how, in response to the invitation to criticize, which was put to me at every factory I visited.

One is left to wonder, in an economy that is entirely state-run, how many of the facts find their way back to the administration level in Peking, where the accounts are kept and the big decisions — and most of the small ones — are made.

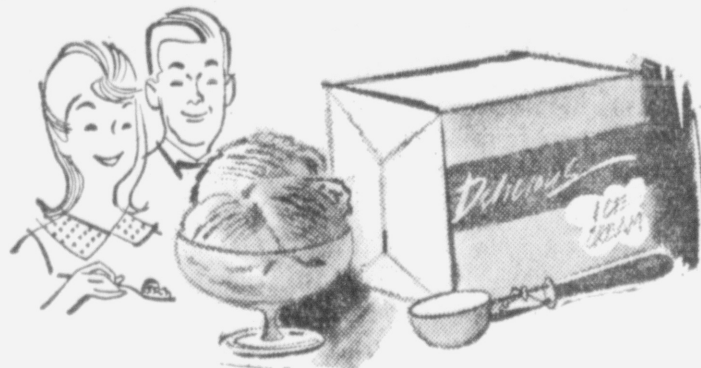

Of course there may be a missing part in the puzzle of Chinese industry. Somewhere, in unseen defense establishments, Chinese industrial genius may be blossoming — but I doubt it.

Vast Congestion In State Parks Seen Developing

By KEN MCCREARY
For The Associated Press

Ever get hot under the collar because your favorite park, picnic area, lake or beach was rammed and congested? Well, you haven't seen anything yet.

That's the opinion of one of the nation's foremost authorities on the problems and planning of outdoor recreation, for today and for the future.

He's Dr. Marion Clawson, Director of Land Use and Management Studies for a non-profit organization called Resources for the Future. Dr. Clawson, a former director of the U. S. Bureau of Land Management, talked during a recent visit about the future of outdoor recreation in Ohio and across the country.

"The outlook for the future is for larger and larger numbers of people visiting our parks and other outdoor recreation areas," he said. "The outdoor recreation explosion has been five times the population explosion. The population has climbed less than 2 per cent per year, while recreation has climbed about 10 per cent per year, nationally."

He gives four reasons for this crowd-and-congestion - creating "boom": increased population, higher income, more leisure time (including paid vacations), and better transportation facilities.

Another big factor in his opinion, is the "big revolution in winter-based sports since World War II, created by better and cheaper boats and motors, plus

Oil Search Resumes Here

Dry Hole Drilled In Muhlenberg Twp.

The search for oil in economically recoverable quantities in Pickaway County got under way again last week with a "dry hole" drilled in Muhlenberg Twp.

Larry McCarthy of Geomac, a Newark geophysical consulting firm, has announced a well on the Ralph Long farm was completed at 2,711 feet with no shows of oil. The well was plugged and abandoned.

According to McCarthy, the drilling rig has now been moved to the Lindsey farm in Deercreek Twp. southwest of Williamsport. From there, present programming calls for an offset well to be drilled at the Riggins Farm in Jackson Twp. where a favorable show of oil was made last winter.

At the same time, a completion crew and test tank will be located at the Riggins well in an attempt to complete it.

McCarthy also said a seismic crew is working the area near the Riggins well.

Business Briefs

Byron Rose, 20, Williamsport, will be participating in Massey-Ferguson Inc.'s Youth Business Opportunity Program during the summer months.

Rose, who attends Morehead College in Kentucky, is being sponsored in the program by The Dunlap Company. A vo-ag student, he and his family farm 500 acres in corn near Williamsport.

The program, according to Lowell Brooks, company branch manager in Columbus, was developed to provide students "with a unique opportunity to better understand the role of business in agriculture today and the importance of modern farm technology in successful farm operation."

Participating students are sponsored by their local Massey-Ferguson dealer. They learn about farm equipment retailing and customer service, as well as the proper operation of the company's farm tractors. Each student is then given a tractor to demonstrate to neighboring farmers. He is paid by the sponsoring dealer for each tractor demonstration.

In June, some 250 students in the program, which is currently limited to the 10 Cornbelt states will be given a free trip to Chicago to enjoy a number of educational attractions.

GOP Leader Says He Is Changing Party Image in Public's Mind

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the quiet-spoken former football player who runs the Republican party in the House, says he's making some headway in changing the picture of his party in the public mind.

"I hope I'm not too naive and idealistic, but I think if you do what is right the stature of the party in the long haul will be sound," Ford said in an interview.

"I don't think the party can sit back and just be consistently in opposition and wait for some catastrophe to come along and then try to pick up the pieces," he added. "You have to go along on the basis of doing what is right and earn the respect of the citizens of the country."

As examples, he mentioned Republican support of the voting-rights bill and backing President Johnson's actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. On foreign policy, he said, "we're supporting him because he's right."

Ford told of an emergency meeting at the White House in the early days of the Dominican crisis. He said the President greeted him and said jokingly, "You and Ev Dirksen (the Senate Republican leader) are supporting me on foreign policy so much you may wind up with a Republican Congress." The President has been reported upset and disturbed by criticism of his policies by some Democrats in Congress.

Ford said he replied, "Mr. President, that isn't why we're supporting you, but if that's a fringe benefit we'll accept it."

Ford said in the interview: "supposing we were critical of his policies in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam, I think the public would have an adverse reaction. In the first place all during the (1964) campaign we called for action that was comparable. We can't change our position now just for the purpose of opposition."

Ford is a shirtsleeved worker in the privacy of his ceremonial office in the Capitol. He and his aides have placed their desks so they can look up from their work and see a view down the center of the Mall that is so splendid it might be counted as another fringe benefit of his job.

When Ford took over the minority-leader position in January from veteran Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, he announced that one of his goals would be to develop reasonable Republican alternatives to Democratic programs as they come up in Congress.

He thinks he has succeeded. The Republicans pushed a version of health care for the aged that was broader in some ways than the Democratic plan. The result was that the Democrats accepted part of the Republican proposal and put it in their own bill.

"I feel if they hadn't had a longstanding commitment to a payroll tax to finance it, they would have bought the whole Republican package," Ford said.

Another example of offering alternatives, he said, was a Republican plan for aid to elementary and secondary schools.

Dropped by the wayside under seething criticism by Democrats, it proposed to cut some federal taxes so local authorities could afford to raise local school taxes on a voluntary basis.

Ford acknowledged the GOP education bill "was not as sound on a broad basis as the others, but it had some good points."

A third example, he said, was the Appalachia bill, which Republicans tried to broaden to include any needy area in the country instead of just the 13-state Appalachia area. Democrats contended that would dilute the available funds so much they would be worthless. They defeated the Republican effort. The Republicans also have proposed their own voting-rights bill, which Ford said is "strictly a House Republican product."

Ford said he has not yet developed a firm position on the President's proposal to cut many federal excise taxes on goods ranging from cars to cosmetics.

But he noted the Republicans attempted on the floor of the House last year to do away with some of these taxes and were turned back by Democrats.

Ford said he thought "if we're going to take $4 billion off the revenue side, I think we ought at least to take a look at the possibility of cutting back some nondefense spending."

Two Are Awarded Degrees at U of M

Two Circleville students received degrees from the University of Michigan along with 3,666 other students during the 121st commencement of the university located at Ann Arbor.

John T. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Davis, 120 Montclair Ave., and Patricia A. Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Schroeder, 323 Wood Lane, were the local students receiving degrees. Both are graduates of Circleville High School.

Miss Schroeder received a bachelor's degree in landscape architecture while Davis was awarded his master of arts in classical studies.

Bellefontaine Builder Is Low on Miami Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Knowlton Construction Co., Bellefontaine, submitted the only bid—$1,342,000—for the general construction of a classroom building and a library on the Middletown campus of Miami University.

The Ohio Department of Public Works said Wednesday Knowlton's bid was $123,740 less than the state estimate for the project of $1,465,740.

Vast Congestion In State Parks Seen Developing

By KEN MCCREARY
For The Associated Press

Ever get hot under the collar because your favorite park, picnic area, lake or beach was rammed and congested? Well, you haven't seen anything yet.

That's the opinion of one of the nation's foremost authorities on the problems and planning of outdoor recreation, for today and for the future.

He's Dr. Marion Clawson, Director of Land Use and Management Studies for a non-profit organization called Resources for the Future. Dr. Clawson, a former director of the U. S. Bureau of Land Management, talked during a recent visit about the future of outdoor recreation in Ohio and across the country.

"The outlook for the future is for larger and larger numbers of people visiting our parks and other outdoor recreation areas," he said. "The outdoor recreation explosion has been five times the population explosion. The population has climbed less than 2 per cent per year, while recreation has climbed about 10 per cent per year, nationally."

He gives four reasons for this crowd-and-congestion - creating "boom": increased population, higher income, more leisure time (including paid vacations), and better transportation facilities.

Another big factor in his opinion, is the "big revolution in winter-based sports since World War II, created by better and cheaper boats and motors, plus better trailers which make the boater mobile."

Although, generally speaking, agencies have fallen behind in providing a sufficient quantity and quality of outdoor recreation facilities, this is not the case in every city, county or state. Ohio has an ambitious $100 million "master plan" for the outdoors in the next six years. The U.S. Interior Department, through the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, is allotting about $108 million to states this year (Ohio hopes for about $5 million), plus another $17 million dollars to federal agencies dealing with the problem.

Dr. Clawson believes that Ohioans and other citizens are willing to pay for better recreational facilities, including the buying of use permits, such as the federal conservation sticker which costs $7 per year.

"People are willing to pay," he said, "if they can get good facilities that are well-maintained, are convenient and provide the kind of recreation they want."

Dr. Clawson feels that the plans now being pushed by Ohio and a few other states, plus the federal government, are important steps in the right direction. But just catching up now won't be enough. Of the future, he says, "We're going to see very large increases in demands; I think we're going to see something like 3, 5, 10 times as much outdoor recreation in the next 20 to 40 years from now as we see today. These are whopping increases."

Michigan State golfer Ken Benson won the Chicago District Golf Association match play title in 1963 and repeated in 1964.

Oil Search Resumes Here

Dry Hole Drilled In Muhlenberg Twp.

The search for oil in economically recoverable quantities in Pickaway County got under way again last week with a "dry hole" drilled in Muhlenberg Twp.

Larry McCarthy of Geomac, a Newark geophysical consulting firm, has announced a well on the Ralph Long farm was completed at 2,711 feet with no shows of oil. The well was plugged and abandoned.

According to McCarthy, the drilling rig has now been moved to the Lindsey farm in Deercreek Twp. southwest of Williamsport. From there, present programming calls for an offset well to be drilled at the Riffin Farm in Jackson Twp. where a favorable show of oil was made last winter.

At the same time, a completion crew and test tank will be located at the Riffin well in an attempt to complete it.

McCarthy also said a seismic crew is working the area near the Riffin well.

Business Briefs

Byron Rose, 20, Williamsport, will be participating in Massey-Ferguson Inc.'s Youth Business Opportunity Program during the summer months.

Rose, who attends Morehead College in Kentucky, is being sponsored in the program by The Dunlap Company. A vo-ag student, he and his family farm 500 acres in corn near Williamsport.

The program, according to Lowell Brooks, company branch manager in Columbus, was developed to provide students "with a unique opportunity to better understand the role of business in agriculture today and the importance of modern farm technology in successful farm operation."

Participating students are sponsored by their local Massey-Ferguson dealer. They learn about farm equipment retailing and customer service, as well as the proper operation of the company's farm tractors. Each student is then given a tractor to demonstrate to neighboring farmers. He is paid by the sponsoring dealer for each tractor demonstration.

In June, some 250 students in the program, which is currently limited to the 10 Cornbelt states will be given a free trip to Chicago to enjoy a number of educational attractions.

GOP Leader Says He Is Changing Party Image in Public's Mind

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the quiet-spoken former football player who runs the Republican party in the House, says he's making some headway in changing the picture of his party in the public mind.

"I hope I'm not too naive and idealistic, but I think if you do what is right the stature of the party in the long haul will be sound," Ford said in an interview.

"I don't think the party can sit back and just be consistently in opposition and wait for some catastrophe to come along and then try to pick up the pieces," he added. "You have to go along on the basis of doing what is right and earn the respect of the citizens of the country."

As examples, he mentioned Republican support of the voting-rights bill and backing President Johnson's actions in Viet Nam and the Dominican Republic. On foreign policy, he said, "we're supporting him because he's right."

Ford told of an emergency meeting at the White House in the early days of the Dominican crisis. He said the President greeted him and said jokingly, "You and Ev Dirksen (the Senate Republican leader) are supporting me on foreign policy so much you may wind up with a Republican Congress." The President has been reported upset and disturbed by criticism of his policies by some Democrats in Congress.

Ford said he replied, "Mr. President, that isn't why we're supporting you, but if that's a fringe benefit we'll accept it."

Ford said in the interview: "supposing we were critical of his policies in the Dominican Republic and Viet Nam, I think the public would have an adverse reaction. In the first place all during the (1964) campaign we called for action that was comparable. We can't change our position now just for the purpose of opposition."

Ford is a shirtsleeved worker in the privacy of his ceremonial office in the Capitol. He and his aides have placed their desks so they can look up from their work and see a view down the center of the Mall that is so splendid it might be counted as another fringe benefit of his job.

When Ford took over the minority-leader position in January from veteran Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, he announced that one of his goals would be to develop reasonable Republican alternatives to Democratic programs as they come up in Congress.

He thinks he has succeeded. The Republicans pushed a version of health care for the aged that was broader in some ways than the Democratic plan. The result was that the Democrats accepted part of the Republican proposal and put it in their own bill.

"I feel if they hadn't had a longstanding commitment to a payroll tax to finance it, they would have bought the whole Republican package," Ford said.

Another example of offering alternatives, he said, was a Republican plan for aid to elementary and secondary schools.

Dropped by the wayside under scathing criticism by Democrats, it proposed to cut some federal taxes so local authorities could afford to raise local school taxes on a voluntary basis.

Ford acknowledged the GOP education bill "was not as sound on a broad basis as the others, but it had some good points."

A third example, he said, was the Appalachia bill, which Republicans tried to broaden to include any needy area in the country instead of just the 13-state Appalachia area. Democrats contended that would dilute the available funds so much they would be worthless. They defeated the Republican effort.

The Republicans also have proposed their own voting-rights bill, which Ford said is "strictly a House Republican product."

Ford said he has not yet developed a firm position on the President's proposal to cut many federal excise taxes on goods ranging from cars to cosmetics.

But he noted the Republicans attempted on the floor of the House last year to do away with some of these taxes and were turned back by Democrats.

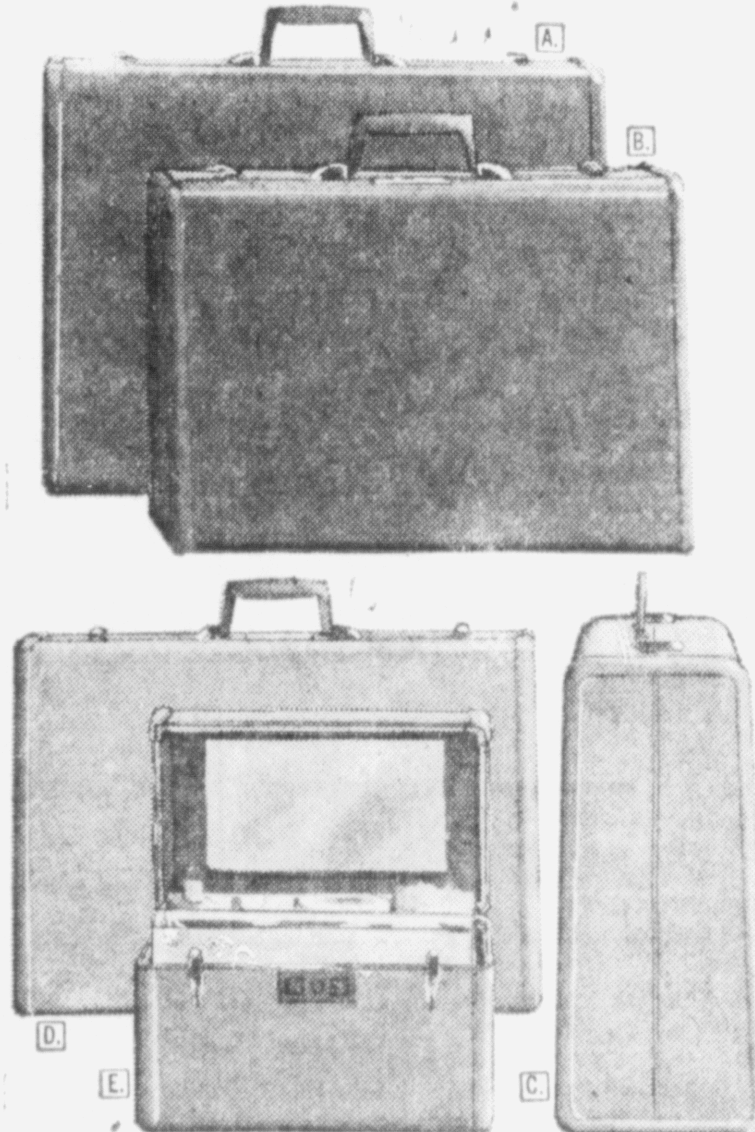

Ford said he thought "if we're going to take $4 billion off the revenue side, I think we ought at least to take a look at the possibility of cutting back some nondefense spending."

Two Are Awarded Degrees at U of M

Two Circleville students received degrees from the University of Michigan along with 3,666 other students during the 121st commencement of the university located at Ann Arbor.

John T. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray W. Davis, 120 Montclair Ave., and Patricia A. Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Schroeder, 323 Wood Lane, were the local students receiving degrees. Both are graduates of Circleville High School.

Miss Schroeder received a bachelor's degree in landscape architecture while Davis was awarded his master of arts in classical studies.
